PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

Thank you for attending the Society of Behavioral Medicine’s (SBM’s) 37th Annual Meeting & Scientific Sessions!

We have a stellar lineup of plenary speakers arranged around a theme that could not be more timely: “Behavioral Medicine at a Crossroads: 21st Century Challenges and Solutions.” Our speakers will broaden how you think about your research, your career, and the translation of behavioral medicine evidence.

• Opening keynote presenter Sean Duffy, CEO and co-founder of Omada Health, will share results from Omada Health’s online diabetes prevention program, which is based on the national Diabetes Prevention Program.

• Keynote presenter Jeanette Betancourt, EdD, senior vice president of community and family engagement for Sesame Workshop, will explain how Sesame Street programming teaches families about healthy lifestyle habits.

• Keynote presenter Jody Heymann, MD, PhD, dean of UCLA’s School of Public Health, will discuss bridging the gap between research and policymakers to improve individual and population health worldwide.

• Keynote presenter Andrew Hoffman, PhD, will speak about why academics must make themselves heard in public and political spheres. He will explain how academics can help society make wise choices.

• Master Lecturer Michael Goldstein, MD, recipient of SBM’s Jessie Gruman Award for Health Engagement, will speak about clinician-patient communication.

• Master lecturer Jessica Donze Black, RD, MPH, director of the Kids’ Safe and Healthful Foods Project at the Pew Charitable Trusts, will discuss the past, present, and future of school nutrition research and policy.

• Master lecturer Susan Murphy, PhD, H.E. Robbins Distinguished Professor at the University of Michigan, will talk about the use of micro-randomized trials for developing mobile behavioral interventions.

• Master lecturer Catherine Alfano, PhD, vice president of survivorship for the American Cancer Society, will discuss bringing various players together to ensure cancer survivors are helped by evidence-based solutions.

During my Thursday evening presidential address, I will talk about specific changes that put behavioral scientists at a crossroads, where there are opportunities to develop innovative research, novel partnerships, and exciting career directions. I will also have the honor of presenting SBM achievement awards to this year’s esteemed and deserving recipients. Please join me in congratulating them!

This year we are pleased to offer some special conference perks. Complimentary hotel WiFi will be available throughout the conference area. Enter “SBM2016” as the WiFi code. Complimentary breakfast will be available for breakfast roundtable attendees on Thursday and Friday, and for business meeting attendees on Saturday. Lunch will be available for purchase at the hotel’s coffee shop, sports bar, and restaurant. Showing your conference badge around town means complimentary appetizers, discounted meals, half-off admissions, and more at about 60 establishments. Visit www.washington.org/syb for details.

I hope you enjoy the program we’ve put together this year.

All my best,

Marian L. Fitzgibbon, PhD
SBM President
WELCOME LETTER

On behalf of the Program Committee, we are delighted to welcome you to SBM’s 37th Annual Meeting & Scientific Sessions!

Our Annual Meeting programming features the theme “Behavioral Medicine at a Crossroads: 21st Century Challenges and Solutions.” Meeting sessions will examine drivers of change (e.g., health care reform, technological advancements, funding landscape changes) and the opportunities those changes create (e.g., expanded access to health care, use of digital tools to impact health, partnerships with channels that were traditionally “not health”). The meeting will focus on the following cross-cutting subthemes:

- Innovative behavioral interventions that prevent disease and alter its natural progression.
- Translation of behavioral medicine research into practice.
- New ideas for funding health improvement research and evidence-based interventions.
- Expanding behavioral medicine’s reach.

We received an impressive number of abstracts covering those thematic topics as well as other exciting topics of importance to SBM. Highlights include healthy eating, active living, health in all policies, adolescent and child health, health disparities, cancer, big data, and the role of technology.

The meeting also features a new poster session focused on null results. This is a unique opportunity to learn from colleagues about studies that didn’t go as planned—either in execution or in the testing of hypotheses. Our hope is that these conversations push behavioral medicine to innovate even more. Please stop by on Thursday, March 31 from noon to 1 p.m. in the poster hall.

Washington, DC, the nexus of health care policy in the United States, provides the ideal home for the 2016 Annual Meeting. It is the perfect location for emphasizing the significant impact that behavioral medicine has on health and health care across settings and populations. Washington, DC, is also the perfect location for enjoying premier dining, entertainment, and shopping when meeting sessions are over for the day. The conference hotel is conveniently located in the vibrant Dupont Circle neighborhood.

Wishing you all a productive and inspiring conference!

Sincerely,

Kathleen Wolin, ScD  David X. Marquez, PhD

MEMBER DISCOUNTS

Attend the Annual Meeting as an SBM member and enjoy savings:

- Student/trainee SBM members can save up to $175 compared to non-members!
- Transitional SBM members can save up to $385 compared to non-members!
- Full, emeritus, fellow, and associate SBM members can save up to $320 compared to non-members!

SBM members also enjoy the following benefits:

- Access to exclusive job postings and funding announcements.
- Subscriptions to the society’s two journals: Annals of Behavioral Medicine and Translational Behavioral Medicine: Practice, Policy, Research.
- Free membership in one or more of SBM’s 23 different special interest groups (SIGs). Through the use of email listservs and occasional meetings, the SIGs allow members to connect with others who share their behavioral medicine interests.
- Eligibility for SBM achievement awards.
- Eligibility to participate in SBM elections.
- Membership in the International Society of Behavioral Medicine.
- Access to SBM’s Expert Consultation Program.
- Access to SBM’s searchable Membership Directory.
- Opportunities to interact with leading specialists in behavioral medicine. SBM is large enough to have impact, but small enough to make your membership experience personal and rewarding.

Membership applications and renewal forms can be found at www.sbm.org/membership.

CANCELLATION POLICY

Any registration cancellations must be due to professional and/or personal/family health emergencies and must be made in writing directly to the SBM national office by March 30, 2016. All cancellations are subject to a non-refundable $50 administrative fee. Refunds will be processed following the Annual Meeting.

EVENT IMAGES AND RECORDINGS

Your attendance at SBM events implies your permission for images and audio/visual recordings captured during these events to be used for purposes of SBM archival materials, promotional materials, and publications, and waives your rights for compensation or ownership of these images.

AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT COMPLIANCE

If you require special arrangements in order to fully participate in the 37th Annual Meeting & Scientific Sessions, please check the appropriate box on your registration form and provide a written description of your specific needs. SBM cannot ensure the availability of appropriate accommodations without prior notification.
CONFERENCE HOTEL AND HOST CITY INFORMATION

WASHINGTON HILTON
The meeting venue and main hotel for attendees of the 37th Annual Meeting & Scientific Sessions is the Washington Hilton:
1919 Connecticut Avenue, NW
Washington, DC, 20009

To reserve a room, visit www.sbm.org/meetings/2016 or call (202) 483-3000.

DISCOUNTED ROOM RATE
Ask for a room in the SBM 2016 Annual Meeting & Scientific Sessions room block to get a discounted room rate of $297.70 (including state and local taxes, fees, and assessments). Only a limited number of rooms are available at the discounted conference rate, so book early! Once the conference rooms are sold out, SBM will not be able to offer additional rooms at the conference rate.

If you are a government employee and need a government rate room, please contact the SBM national office at (414) 918-3156 to be placed on the government rate wait list.

NAVIGATING DC
Want to figure out what to see and do in Washington, DC, when you’re not attending Annual Meeting sessions? Then check out Destination DC’s website at www.washington.org.

Need to know how to get around the city? Find information on how to use the Metro public transportation system at www.washington.org/DC-faqs-for-visitors/how-does-metro-work, and plan your Metro travel using this handy website: www.wmata.com/rider_tools/tripplanner/tripplanner_form_solo.cfm.

VISITOR DEALS
Destination DC partners with Washington, DC, businesses to offer discounts and special offers to visitors in the city for meetings. To take advantage, you need only show your SBM Annual Meeting badge. Through the Show Your Badge program, meeting attendees can receive complimentary appetizers, discounted meals, free desserts, half-off admissions, and more at about 60 establishments.

Visit www.washington.org/syb to see what Show Your Badge offers are currently available.
MOBILE APP

Use the SBM 2016 mobile app to browse meeting sessions and mark the ones you want to attend.

The app is free to download—just search “SBM2016” in your app store. You can connect to your app store and the meeting app on complimentary conference hotel WiFi; enter “SBM2016” as the WiFi code.

Use the app to browse sessions by day and time.
Search sessions by title, speaker, track, and content area. Click a session name to view its description and presenter information. Click the calendar icon or the “Add To My Agenda” button to add a particular session to your schedule.

You can also use the app to
• post to the app’s activity feed;
• browse posters;
• participate in polls and surveys;
• access meeting exhibitor information;
• browse presenters and app users by country, state, and institution;
• connect with SBM on social media;
• view award winners;
• take notes; and
• view a hotel map.

When you open the app for the first time, you will be prompted to enter an email address. This creates your user profile and sends you a confirmation email with randomly generated password information. Be sure to check your spam folder if you don’t see the email right away. In the app, you can complete your user profile by manually entering your information or by importing it from LinkedIn. You can also choose to link the app to your Twitter or Facebook accounts.

Questions about using the app? Stop by the onsite registration desk.

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM INFORMATION

OVERVIEW
The 37th Annual Meeting & Scientific Sessions theme, “Behavioral Medicine at a Crossroads: 21st Century Challenges and Solutions,” focuses on recent changes in the field. Meeting sessions will demonstrate how attendees can adapt to ensure behavioral medicine research continues being translated into effective, evidence-based interventions that lead to the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of diseases. The meeting will examine drivers of change (e.g., health care reform, technological advancements, funding landscape changes) and the opportunities those changes create (e.g., expanded access to health care, use of digital tools to impact health, partnerships with channels that were traditionally “not health”). The meeting will broaden how attendees think about their research, their careers, and the translation of behavioral medicine evidence. Invited speakers will address the following cross-cutting subthemes, which align with the diverse interests and expertise of the SBM membership: innovative behavioral interventions that prevent disease and alter its natural progression; translation of behavioral medicine research into practice and policy; new ideas for funding health promotion research and evidence-based interventions; and expanding behavioral medicine’s reach so more people can live longer, healthier lives. In addition, abstract submissions will address the latest information related to cardiovascular health, obesity, cancer, precision medicine, aging, population health, intervention dissemination and implementation, health policy, grant writing, mentoring, career development, and more.

During the abstract submission process, submitters select one track and one content area that best capture their research topics. The breadth of tracks and content areas ensure that, as a whole, the conference meets the learning needs of multidisciplinary attendees.

TRACKS
- Adherence
- Behavioral medicine in clinical and medical settings
- Biological mechanisms in health and behavior change

TARGET AUDIENCE
SBM’s Annual Meeting represents the largest annual scientific conference—with more than 1,500 attendees—devoted exclusively to behavioral medicine. The Annual Meeting offers a multidisciplinary forum for psychologists, physicians, nurses, nurse practitioners, health education specialists, registered dietitians, and other professionals with a range of expertise from research in health promotion, disease prevention, risk factor identification and modification, disease progression, adjustment and adaptation to physical disorders, rehabilitation, and diffusion and dissemination.
CONTINUING EDUCATION

Most 2016 Annual Meeting sessions are eligible for continuing education credit. If a specific session is not eligible, it is noted in the session’s description in the conference schedule section of this program. Conference attendees who wish to receive continuing education credits and a continuing education certificate of attendance at the 2016 Annual Meeting must:

- Purchase continuing education credits, either using the 2016 Annual Meeting registration form or in person at the registration desk. The purchase price is $80 per credit type for SBM members and $100 per credit type for non-members.
- Complete an online evaluation within 30 days of the Annual Meeting (by Monday, May 2, 2016). Registration packets distributed on site will include a link to the evaluation website. SBM national office staff will also email the link to attendees. On the evaluation website, attendees will find a general meeting evaluation as well as session-specific evaluations; both types of evaluations must be completed in order to receive continuing education credit. Each session-specific evaluation asks questions pertaining to the session, so it may be helpful to take notes during the session. Be sure to attend each session in its entirety as the session evaluation will include an attestation statement indicating attendance for the entire session.

Immediately after attendees complete the online evaluation, continuing education certificates will be emailed to the address they indicated on the evaluation. Alternately, attendees can print their own certificates from the screen that appears immediately following completion of the online evaluation.

SBM offers the following six credit types.

CERTIFIED HEALTH EDUCATION SPECIALISTS
Sponsored by SBM, a designated provider of continuing education contact hours (CECH) in health education by the National Commission for Health Education Credentialing, Inc. This program is designed for the Certified Health Education Specialists (CHES) to receive up to 27.50 Category I contact hours in health education. NCHEC Provider #101874. Program #25319.

DIETITIANS
Dietitians can earn a total of up to 27.50 CPEUs by attending this conference. Please see the Professional Development Portfolio guidelines at www.cdrnet.org for further explanation of requirements.

NURSES AND NURSE PRACTITIONERS
AMEDCO is accredited as a provider of continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center’s Commission on Accreditation.

This course is co-provided by AMEDCO and SBM. Maximum of 27.50 contact hours.

PHYSICIANS
Accreditation Statement - This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements and policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint providership of AMEDCO and SBM. AMEDCO is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Credit Designation Statement - AMEDCO designates this live activity for a maximum of 27.50 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

PSYCHOLOGISTS
SBM is approved by the American Psychological Association to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. SBM maintains responsibility for this program. Maximum of 27.50 hours.

PUBLIC HEALTH PROFESSIONALS
This program has been approved by the National Board of Public Health Examiners (NBPHE). NBPHE offers the certified in public health (CPH) credential as the only voluntary core credential for public health professionals. Maximum of 28 CPH credits.
LEARNING OBJECTIVES

37th Annual Meeting & Scientific Session attendees can be expected to gain the following skills, in seven key areas.

TOBACCO FREE LIVING AND ADDICTION RESEARCH
• Describe and demonstrate how social and behavioral research can inform and improve comprehensive, evidence-based practice in addiction, tobacco control planning, and tobacco control policies.
• Describe ongoing research efforts wherein social and behavioral science principles have or continue to inform implementation of the 2009 Family Smoking Prevention and Tobacco Control Act.
• Present research demonstrating how clinical tobacco cessation services can be expanded to incorporate theory-driven behavioral interventions.
• Showcase research efforts leveraging new media and emerging information technologies to educate people about the risks of smoking and to encourage people to quit.
• Identify new tools for supporting smoking cessation and maintenance.
• Describe emerging tobacco products, and understand the regulatory environment and impact on smoking behavior.

HEALTHY EATING/ACTIVE LIVING ACROSS THE LIFESPAN
• Describe social and behavioral science research aimed at evaluating efforts to increase access to healthy and affordable foods in communities.
• Present effective strategies for screening patients for obesity, counseling patients to prevent and treat obesity, and referring patients to appropriate resources for obesity treatment.
• Showcase social and behavioral research efforts to evaluate the impact of organizational and programmatic nutrition standards and policies on health behavior and health outcomes.
• Present social and behavioral research around interventions that promote healthy eating.
• Describe social science contributions to designing, leveraging, and evaluating efforts to increase physical activity in communities, workplaces, schools, and childcare facilities.
• Identify new technologies and media for assessing and encouraging physical activity levels and healthy eating.

HEALTH INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY AND BEHAVIOR CHANGE
• Describe how social and behavioral research leveraging the Internet and other health information technology can support and evaluate behavior change interventions to improve population health.
• Identify and describe how emerging technologies and technology platforms can be leveraged to develop, implement, and evaluate technology-based social and behavioral interventions.
• Increase the understanding of how behavioral and social scientists can partner with the technology industry to develop and evaluate evidence-based behavioral change interventions to improve population health.

TRANSLATION OF EVIDENCE-BASED THERAPIES INTO CLINICAL PRACTICE
• List examples of evidence-based therapies that are currently not being widely implemented in clinical practice.
• Identify strategies for enhancing training programs to encourage clinicians to adopt new evidence-based therapies.
• Describe models of effective knowledge translation in the clinical setting.

CLINICAL PREVENTIVE SERVICES
• Describe how basic behavioral principles and behavioral science evidence can be applied to efforts to improve public adoption of clinical preventive services.
• Provide examples of how behavioral science can be applied to strengthen and inform delivery of behavioral clinical preventive services including cancer screening, tobacco screening, and screening for cardiovascular disease.
• Describe the potential role of social and behavioral science in evaluating efforts to link community-based and clinical preventive services.
• Identify common barriers to accessing clinical preventive services, especially among at-risk populations.

ENVIRONMENTAL INFLUENCES ON HEALTH BEHAVIOR
• Describe how behavioral and social science principles and research can be applied to strengthen the social environment and to support healthy behavior and improve population health.
• Identify successful applications of social and behavioral science to efforts to modify physical and social environments to support health behavior.
• Describe characteristics of environments that promote healthy behavior and support healthy populations.

HEALTH POLICY AND HEALTH IN ALL POLICIES—THEIR INFLUENCES ON HEALTH BEHAVIOR
• Describe the health policy making process at multiple levels.
• List opportunities for productive engagement among decision makers, policymakers, and researchers.
• Identify effective methods for conveying scientific evidence to policymakers in ways that enhance understanding and use.
SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM INFORMATION

SESSION TYPES
SBM’s 37th Annual Meeting & Scientific Sessions offers educational sessions at the following instructional levels: beginner, beginner/intermediate, intermediate, intermediate/advanced, and advanced. Each session’s instructional level is noted in the session’s description in the conference schedule section of this program. Session titles typically list presenting or sponsoring groups in alphabetical order.

The meeting offers educational sessions in a variety of formats. Admission is by name badge unless otherwise indicated.

BREAKFAST ROUNDTABLES
Breakfast roundtables are held on Thursday and Friday morning and last 45 minutes. They are interactive meetings with discussion centered on topics of interest to a specific portion of the meeting audience or to an SBM special interest group (SIG), council, or committee. A complimentary continental breakfast is provided.

COURSES
Courses are held on Wednesday, the Annual Meeting’s “pre-conference” day. These sessions typically last a half day and feature numerous speakers focused on a specific topic. Admission is by paid ticket only.

MIDDAY MEETINGS
Midday meetings are interactive meetings sponsored by one of SBM’s various SIGs, councils, or committees. Midday meetings are held on Thursday and Friday and last 60 minutes.

PANEL DISCUSSIONS
These 60-minute sessions are held on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. They focus on specific topics with various viewpoints expressed by a panel of experts.

PAPER SESSIONS
Paper sessions range from 60 to 90 minutes and are offered on Thursday and Friday. Midday sessions are 60 minutes while afternoon sessions run 90 minutes. They are based on accepted abstracts clustered around common themes and presented via oral presentations.

PLENARY SESSIONS
Plenary sessions—scheduled on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday—include keynote addresses and master lectures. These sessions are the premier educational sessions of the Annual Meeting. Speakers will present on topics of interest to the overall meeting audience in a didactic or pro-con debate format.

POSTER SESSIONS
Poster sessions featuring presentations of accepted abstracts take place on each day of the Annual Meeting. Poster sessions allow abstract authors to discuss their research with interested colleagues for 60 minutes in an informal setting. Poster sessions are a great way to see the latest research in the field while socializing with colleagues.

Due to continued space constraints, the poster boards will be positioned vertically and the surface area for poster display will be 4 ft wide x 8 ft high (1.2 m wide by 2.4 m high). The exact poster dimensions are up to poster presenters, but SBM staff recommends no higher than 5 ft (1.5 m) for ease of vertical viewing.

The poster session schedule will be:
Wednesday, March 30 – Poster Session A
Authors set up posters 4:15 p.m. – 5:45 p.m.
Posters available for viewing 6 p.m. – 7 p.m.
Authors present for discussion 6 p.m. – 7 p.m.
Authors remove posters 7 p.m. – 7:30 p.m.
Thursday, March 31 – Null Results Poster Session
Authors set up posters 10:15 a.m. – 11:45 a.m.
Posters available for viewing 12 p.m. – 1 p.m.
Authors present for discussion 12 p.m. – 1 p.m.
Authors remove posters 1 p.m. – 1:30 p.m.
Thursday, March 31 – Poster Session B
Authors set up posters 4:15 p.m. – 5:45 p.m.
Posters available for viewing 6 p.m. – 7 p.m.
Authors present for discussion 6 p.m. – 7 p.m.
Authors remove posters 7 p.m. – 7:30 p.m.
Friday, April 1 – Poster Session C
Authors set up posters 4:15 p.m. – 5:45 p.m.
Posters available for viewing 6 p.m. – 7 p.m.
Authors present for discussion 6 p.m. – 7 p.m.
Authors remove posters 7 p.m. – 7:30 p.m.
Saturday, April 2 – Poster Session D
Authors set up posters 8:30 a.m. – 10 a.m.
Posters available for viewing 10:15 a.m. – 11:15 a.m.
Authors present for discussion 10:15 a.m. – 11:15 a.m.
Authors remove posters 11:15 a.m. – 11:45 a.m.

Please be sure to hang posters during the appropriate time. All posters left after the removal time has concluded will be discarded. For the security of vendors located inside the poster hall, there is no viewing of posters outside of the established viewing times.

SEMINARS
Seminars are held on Wednesday. They include presentations by approximately three speakers. Speakers emphasize the theory and application of practical skills and interact with participants. Admission is by paid ticket only.
EXHIBITOR DIRECTORY

Please stop by vendors’ tables in the exhibit hall, located in Columbia 1-5. Hours are:

National Center for Telehealth & Technology

The Mission of the National Center for Telehealth & Technology (T2) is to lead the innovation of mobile health and telehealth solutions to deliver psychological health and traumatic brain injury care and support to our nation's warriors, veterans, and their families. T2 is a Department of Defense organization, a component center of the Defense Centers of Excellence for Psychological Health & Traumatic Brain Injury.

National Collaborative on Childhood Obesity Research

The National Collaborative on Childhood Obesity Research (NCCOR) brings together four leading research funders—the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the National Institutes of Health, the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture—to accelerate progress to reduce childhood obesity. These organizations work together to manage projects and reach common goals; combine funding to make the most of available resources; and share insights and expertise to strengthen research. Visit the NCCOR booth to learn how NCCOR can support your work.

PAL Technologies Ltd

activPAL™ is the preferred choice for quantifying free-living sedentary, upright, and ambulatory activities. The thigh-worn instrument provides researchers/clinicians with consistent, objective evidence linking physical behaviors to chronic disease risk. Data processing innovation adds context to free-living sedentary activities, separating sitting bouts from lying and travel from chair-centered sedentary activities.

Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute
The Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute (PCORI) is an independent, nonprofit organization authorized by Congress to fund research that will provide patients, their caregivers, and their clinicians with the evidence-based information needed to make better-informed health care decisions. PCORI’s work is continuously guided by input from a broad range of health care stakeholders to see that its research is timely, is useful, and addresses outcomes that matter to patients.

Vibrent Health
At Vibrent, we believe in the power of human beings to take control of their own health when armed with the right mobile technology tools combined with evidence-based programs. Vibrent’s Precision Medicine System is a National Institutes of Health-funded mHealth behavior change platform to accelerate translational science. This secure, HIPAA-compliant cloud-hosted system was designed from ground up for research, dissemination, and implementation science. Vibrent’s academic/industry partnership approach enables rapid realization of your research through big data collection, processing, automated self-service behavioral interventions, behavioral counseling, and lifestyle coaching. Bring your own content, messages, and study protocols and choose which system elements are required to configure your custom mHealth program. Vibrent’s platform provides a diverse toolkit for program delivery including mobile apps, physical activity, diet and nutrition tools, patient/provider secure messages, remote care plan management, EMAs/EMIs, PROMIS surveys, wireless biometric devices, medication adherence tools, symptom self-management, behavior trackers, rules, alerts, reports, SPSS, dashboards, push notifications, cloud hosting, and more.

7 a.m. – 7 p.m. Registration Open

9 a.m. – 11:45 a.m. Course 1: Cancer and Ethnic Minority and Multicultural Health SIGs Course: Let’s Talk about Your Career: What You Need to Know about Grants, Mentorship, and Life Balance

Lincoln East

Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $100; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $70; Non-Members: $115

Content area: Education, training, and/or career development

Instructional level: Beginner/intermediate

Co-Chairs: Lara Traeger, PhD, Harvard Medical School, Boston MA; Felicity Harper, PhD, Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute, Detroit, MI; Qian Lu, MD, PhD, University of Houston, Houston, TX; Jamilia Sly, PhD, Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai, New York, NY; Shobha Srinivasan, PhD, National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, MD; Cathy Meade, PhD, Moffitt Cancer Center, Tampa, FL

Co-Presenters: Shobha Srinivasan, PhD, National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, MD; and Cathy Meade, PhD, Moffitt Cancer Center, Tampa, FL

This exciting event will provide 1) expert advice on writing National Institutes of Health (NIH) K career development grants, 2) a mock NIH study section in which three grant applications will be reviewed, and 3) roundtables on key career issues (e.g., work-life balance, mentorship, and job searches) that are of interest to junior investigators. All attendees will have the opportunity to learn grant writing tips, observe the mock grant reviews, ask questions of the expert reviewers, and participate in the roundtables. You will hear from and network with nationally recognized leaders in the fields of multicultural health, health disparities, psycho-oncology, and cancer control, including Shobha Srinivasan, PhD, Deborah Bowen, PhD, Jamie Ostroff, PhD, Susan Vadaparampil, PhD, MPH, Shawna Hudson, PhD, Lorien Abroms, ScD, MA, and Cathy Meade, PhD, RN, FAAN.

9 a.m. – 11:45 a.m. Course 2: Advanced Design and Conduct of Randomized Behavioral Clinical Trials

Lincoln West

Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $75; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $45; Non-Members: $90

Content area: Other

Instructional level: Intermediate/advanced

Chair: Peter G. Kaufmann, PhD, National Heart Lung and Blood Institute, Bethesda, MD

Co-Presenters: Lynda H. Powell, PhD, Rush University Medical Center, Chicago, IL; Kenneth Freedland, PhD, Washington University School of Medicine, Saint Louis, MO

In this course we will discuss several principal challenges in the design of clinical trials. Important targets for multi-level interventions include biological response, social connections, provider behavior, health care system performance, community resources, and the physical environment. Multilevel interventions pose unique challenges for recruitment, randomization, selecting the unit of analysis, and treatment contamination. The results of behavioral intervention trials depend to a considerable extent on the nature of the selected comparators. A growing empirical literature on the effects of different control groups on behavioral trial outcomes will be discussed. Finally, the outcome of clinical trial depends critically on estimation of a meaningful effect size. Systematic estimation of a Minimal Clinically Important Difference is an important approach with important implications for the interpretation of the effectiveness of the delivered interventions.

The HPC encourages members to develop ideas for health policy briefs and to submit proposals for briefs to the committee. The purpose of this session is to provide members with background regarding the role of the HPC, to describe how briefs are developed and then disseminated including engaging partners who will endorse the briefs, and to give members some hands on training in crafting their own health policy brief. Attendees will be asked to come to the course with an idea for a health policy brief, and we will work with members to help refine their ideas to draft an effective and impactful health policy brief. We will close with discussion on how SBM health policy briefs are presented to legislative aides on Capitol Hill, and how the development and dissemination of the briefs are an important part of advocacy.</td>

<td>Course 4: Optimization of Behavioral Interventions SIG Course: Introduction to the Multiphase Optimization Strategy (MOST) for Building More Effective, Efficient, Economical, and Scalable Behavioral and Biobehavioral Interventions&lt;br&gt;Lincoln West&lt;br&gt;Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $108; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $78; Non-Members: $123&lt;br&gt;Content area: Methods&lt;br&gt;Instructional level: Beginner/intermediate&lt;br&gt;Chair: Linda M. Collins, PhD, Pennsylvania State University, State College, PA&lt;br&gt;Presenter: Linda M. Collins, PhD, Pennsylvania State University, State College, PA&lt;br&gt;The majority of behavioral and biobehavioral interventions in use today have been evaluated as a treatment package using a two-arm randomized controlled trial (RCT). This approach is an excellent way to determine whether an intervention is effective. However, the treatment package approach is less helpful in providing empirical information that can be used to optimize the intervention to achieve improved effectiveness while maintaining a desired level of efficiency, economy, and/or scalability. In this seminar an innovative methodological framework for optimizing behavioral interventions, the multiphase optimization strategy (MOST), will be presented. MOST is based on ideas inspired by engineering methods, which stress careful management of research resources and ongoing improvement of products. MOST is a comprehensive strategy that includes three phases: preparation, optimization, and evaluation. MOST can be used to build a new intervention or to improve an existing intervention. Using MOST it is possible to engineer an intervention targeting a particular effect size, level of cost-effectiveness, or any other criterion. This seminar will provide an introduction to MOST. Ongoing intervention development studies using the MOST approach will be used as illustrative examples. A substantial amount of time will be devoted to experimental design, which is an important tool in MOST. In particular, factorial experiments and fractional factorial experiments will be discussed. Time will be reserved for open discussion of how the concepts presented can be applied in the research of seminar attendees. Attendees will be given a handout with the Power Point slides and a list of articles containing additional information.</td>

3:15 p.m. – 6 p.m.  Course 5: Cancer SIG Course: Precision Behavioral Medicine in Cancer: Personalization across the Cancer Care Continuum

Lincoln East

Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $100; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $70; Non-Members: $115

Content area: Cancer

Instructional level: Intermediate/advanced

Co-Chairs: Kristi Graves, PhD, Georgetown University, Washington, DC; and Catherine Alfano, PhD, American Cancer Society, Inc., Rockville, MD

Co-Presenters: Catherine Alfano, PhD, American Cancer Society, Inc., Rockville, MD; Colleen M. McBride, PhD, Emory University, Atlanta, GA; Nora L. Nock, PhD, PE, Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, OH; Carl de Moor, PhD, Inform Genomics, Inc., Boston, MA; Lori Orlando, MD, MHS, Duke University, Durham, NC; Chanita Hughes-Halbert, PhD, Medical University of South Carolina, Charleston, SC; Sarah Gehlert, PhD, Washington University in St. Louis, St. Louis, MO; and William Riley, PhD, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD

The purpose of this course is to define and discuss “precision medicine” in terms of personalized approaches for individuals at risk for, undergoing treatment for, and surviving years after cancer. Speakers will challenge current conceptions of precision medicine to move beyond a sole focus on genomics to include the integration of multiple factors such as lifestyle, culture, patient-reported outcomes, and health literacy. Course content includes innovative conceptual and methodological techniques and an interactive panel discussion to highlight integrated approaches to precision medicine in behavioral medicine interventions, research, and clinical settings. Topics will be relevant for other common chronic diseases and patients of varying ages.

3:15 p.m. – 6 p.m.  Course 6: Evidence-Based Behavioral Medicine SIG, Scientific and Professional Liaison Council, Cancer SIG, Theories and Techniques of Behavioral Medicine SIG, and US Cochrane Center Course: Network Meta-Analysis for Behavioral Trials: An Introduction and Overview

Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $75; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $45; Non-Members: $90

Content area: Methods

Instructional level: Intermediate/advanced

Chair: Tianjing Li, MD, MHS, PhD, US Cochrane Center, Baltimore, MD

Results from conventional pair-wise meta-analyses, while helpful in synthesizing and evaluating results from clinical trials, may make it difficult to determine which intervention is most effective among all available options. Network meta-analysis is a new and growing statistical approach that addresses the limitations of traditional pair-wise meta-analytic techniques. This approach allows for the synthesis of data from both direct and indirect comparisons and the ranking of interventions in order of efficacy. Participants will receive an introduction to indirect comparison and network meta-analysis and learn about how and when these approaches should be used. The course will also include hands-on activities tailored to the participants’ interests in learning about presenting and communicating findings and/or programming for a network meta-analysis.
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 30, 2016

3:15 p.m. – 6 p.m.  Course 7: Integrated Primary Care and Military and Veterans Health SIGs Course: Emerging Population-Based Approaches to Integrated Primary Care

Columbia 9
Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $108; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $78; Non-Members: $123

Content area: Primary Care
Instructional level: Beginner/intermediate
Chair: James E. Aikens, PhD, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI
Co-Presenters: Christopher L. Hunter, PhD, ABPP, Defense Health Headquarters, Falls Church, VA; Rodger Kessler PhD, ABPP, University of Vermont College of Medicine, Burlington, VT; and Margaret Dundon, PhD, VHA National Center for Health, Buffalo, NY

This preconference course features three internationally renowned speakers who will discuss cutting-edge population-based approaches to transform integrated behavioral health in primary care. This field has evolved beyond simple models focused on individual patient visits; the entire empanelment of a primary care clinic must be targeted to produce real change in healthcare delivery and population health. However, existing evidence-based clinical interventions are often applied ineffectively or not at all. The first segment of the course will cover the “Clinical Pathways” approach to help ensure that integrated primary care behavioral health providers (BHPs) apply evidence-based interventions. It will include coverage of BHP tools for eight common clinical issues: diabetes, obesity, pain, insomnia, tobacco use, alcohol misuse, anxiety, and depression. The next segment will concern the innovative “Triple Aims Model” of value-based, sustainable behavioral health services in Patient Centered Medical Homes (per Kathol, DeGruy, & Rollman, 2014). It will also use type 2 diabetes risk as an example to focus upon model implementation using electronic health data. The final segment will cover the Veterans Administration’s national-level integration of health promotion and disease prevention into Patient Aligned Care Teams (PACTs). This model revolves around “Health Behavior Coordinators” (HBCs), who not only support clinicians but also develop and implement multi-level strategies for reducing risky behaviors, adopting healthy behaviors, and obtaining preventive care.

12 p.m. – 6 p.m.  Course 8: Ethnic Minority and Multicultural Health SIG Course: Unchanging Paradigms: The Static Condition of Reducing Health Inequities

Although formal acknowledgement in the public health arena has focused on reducing health inequities for over 60 years, very little has changed in terms of the continued disparate health outcomes for underserved and minority populations. We propose to unravel where research and practice has brought us to date, offer an innovative models to move beyond the current state, and explore unconscious bias.

Co-Presenters: Predrag Klasnja, PhD, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI; Sayali Phatak, MS, Arizona State University, Phoenix, AZ; David Klein, Vibrent Health, Fairfax, VA; Eric B. Hekler, PhD, Arizona State University, Phoenix, AZ; and Eun Kyoung Choe, PhD, Pennsylvania State University, State College, PA

Have you ever wondered why some digital health interventions (i.e., interventions that are delivered by or incorporate digital technologies such as websites, smartphones, or wearable sensors like physical activity monitors) succeed at promoting behavior change, but others fail? While increasing evidence suggests that technologies such as text messaging, websites, smartphone apps, and social networks can promote health behavior change, many times the low number of sustained users hampers the overall effectiveness of the intervention. Factors such as how well the technology integrates into a person’s life, how easy it is to interact with it, how enjoyable it is to use greatly influence a digital health intervention’s chances of success. The discipline of Human-Computer Interaction (HCI) explores novel ways to make technologies more useful AND usable in everyday life (Poole, 2013). In this course, HCI experts and behavioral scientists with experience using HCI design processes and collaborating with HCI researchers will introduce an overarching development process for improving user experience in digital health interventions called human-centered design. The course will focus on two core themes: 1) facilitation of early formative work to ensure a question is being asked appropriately, see IDEO Human-Centered Design Kit for a sense of the work; and 2) teaching pragmatic skills in rapid prototyping of mHealth (i.e., text messaging and app) ideas utilizing a variety of open tools such as ifttt.com, and pacoapp.com. This course is intended for behavioral scientists who are interested in developing a digital health intervention, or want to improve upon the design of an empirically-tested digital health intervention. No technology development or artistic skills are required.

9 a.m. – 6 p.m.  Course 10: Theories and Techniques of Behavior Change Interventions SIG Course: Applying Self-Determination Theory to Health-Behavior Interventions

Fairchild
Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $218; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $172; Non-Members: $243

Content area: Other
Instructional level: Intermediate/advanced
Chair: Jennifer La Guardia, PhD, University of California, Santa Barbara, CA
Presenter: Jennifer La Guardia, PhD, University of California, Santa Barbara, CA

Self-Determination Theory is one of the leading psychological theories on motivation & a powerful cornerstone to building a successful health initiative, program or intervention. In this training, attendees will gain a deeper understanding of SDT principles & discover precisely why SDT provides a powerful framework for: (1) Improving motivation for behavior change, (2) Cultivating value for important health behaviors, (3) Creating meaningful goals, (4) Learn to practically apply the SDT framework in actionable ways, helping researchers and practitioners translate theory into practice, (5) Explore how SDT is synergistic with your health initiatives, program, or intervention and can help create lasting change and improved long-term health outcomes, (6) Learn how to utilize SDT in different modes of treatment delivery (including mobile health, individual, and group modalities), and (7) Distinguish the SDT approach from other prominent interventions (MI, CBT, Stages of Change).
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 30, 2016

9 a.m. – 11:45 a.m.  Seminar 1: Closing the Know-Do Gap in Public Health Professional Training: The Case-Method Teaching Approach

Columbia 9
Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $100; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $50; Non-Members: $150
Content area: Methods
Instructional level: Beginner/Intermediate
Lead Presenter: S Bryn Austin, ScD, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health, Boston, MA
Co-Presenter: Holly C. Gooding, MD, MSc, Boston Children’s Hospital, Boston, MA

An ideal way to integrate new content into educational programs is through the innovative case-method approach, a state-of-the-art and highly effective teaching method that is widely used in professional training in disciplines such as law, medicine, public policy, and business. This approach offers great potential benefits for public health professional training. Case-method teaching is a discussion- and problem-solving-based teaching technique that introduces trainees to real-world scenarios through a case study. Each case is a carefully crafted story, developed from extensive background research to be evidence-based, timely, topical, and dynamic. Each case typically features a protagonist facing a critical dilemma that must be solved by trainees through teamwork in the classroom setting. This approach has been shown not only to increase learning and retention, but also to enhance communication, decision-making, teamwork, and analytical skills beyond what can be achieved through traditional didactic teaching methods.

In this seminar, attendees will work with an original case developed by the Strategic Training Initiative for the Prevention of Eating Disorders (http://www.hsph.harvard.edu/striped/teaching-cases/), based at the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health and Boston Children’s Hospital. Seminar co-leaders will introduce attendees to case-method teaching, basic techniques for writing and teaching cases in the classroom, and the unique advantages of the approach for integrating new topics and perspectives into health professional training. Then attendees will have the chance to work with an exemplar case in a simulated teaching experience. The exemplar case will incorporate content related to U.V. tanning on college campuses and negotiation skills for advancing policy changes to promote public health. Finally, attendees will critique the cases and discuss ways to adapt the approach with the goal of integrating case-method teaching methods into their own public health professional or university settings.

9 a.m. - 11:45 a.m.  Seminar 2: SBIR and STTR: Federal Funding Mechanisms for Improving the Reach of Behavioral Science

Jefferson East
Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $100; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $50; Non-Members: $150
Content area: Education, Training and/or Career Development
Instructional level: Intermediate/Advanced
Lead Presenter: Patricia Weber, DrPH, National Cancer Institute, Rockville, MD
Co-Presenters: James McClain, PhD, National Cancer Institute, Rockville, MD; Jennifer Shieh, PhD, National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute, Bethesda, MD; Richard Bendis, BioHealth Innovation, Inc., Rockville, MD; and Fred Kron, MD, Medical Cyberworlds, Inc., Madison, WI

With growing interest in how the results of research are disseminated and implemented, Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) and Small Business Technology Transfer (STTR) grants and contracts are increasingly an avenue for the translation of scientific evidence into commercial and clinical settings. Representatives from the SBIR/STTR offices of two NIH Institutes, the National Cancer Institute (NCI) and the National Heart Lung and Blood Institute (NHLBI), will provide an overview of the goals of the SBIR and STTR programs, the application and review process and how these differ from traditional research grants. An NCI Program Director from the Division of Cancer Control and Population Sciences will discuss the importance of the SBIR/STTR grant mechanism to the field of behavioral science. An SBIR awardee will give an overview of how he translated his academic behavioral research into a successful SBIR/STTR application. Finally, a seasoned healthcare investor will provide an overview of what investors are looking for from commercial behavioral health products and platforms.

Attendees will be expected to submit a one page overview of their product idea for commercialization prior to the seminar. Attendees will get detailed feedback from the presenters. Attendees will practice giving elevator pitches (short 2 min overview of their idea and its impact) similar to what might happen at a health tech event. Attendees will then give a more detailed overview of their research-informed product idea and commercialization plan, receiving feedback from the presenters.
Seminar 3: Integrating Behavioral Science in the Clinical Workflow and Changing Patient-Provider Relationships

Jefferson West

Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $100; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $50; Non-Members: $150

Content area: Diabetes

Instructional level: Beginner/Intermediate

Lead Presenter: Christine Renee Maldonado, PhD, Healthwise, Inc., Boise, ID

Co-Presenters: Carrie Henley, BA, Healthwise, Inc., Boise, ID; and Catherine D. Serio, PhD, Healthwise, Inc., Boise, ID

We know a great deal about what works (and what does not) in behavioral medicine. But like many fields, there is a gap between what is known and what is implemented in clinical practice and what is disseminated to the public. As both patients and providers grapple with the management of complex, chronic health conditions, there is an urgent need for information that goes beyond traditional health education and instead uses theory-based behavior change interventions in the clinical workflow. To help close the gap between theory and practice, the authors drew from the behavioral medicine literature and adopted the Sustainable Change Sequence (SCS; Elwyn, Marrin, Frosch, & White, 2014), a framework that outlines five steps that a patient needs to adopt in order to sustain health behavior change. This framework also outlines the respective evidence-based behavior change techniques (BCTs) for each step as detailed by Abraham and Michie’s (2008) taxonomy. Together, the SCS and the BCTs have been at the forefront of our content strategy and development. To support providers in targeting health information to their patients’ respective behavior change step, the authors have developed a tool to assess patients’ health behavior change needs. This assessment tool is linked through rich metadata to content that’s been tailored to patients’ specific needs. In this seminar, we will provide participants with an overview of the SCS and the underlying BCTs. We will demonstrate how a multi-disciplinary team of content developers apply the SCS and translate BCTs to produce health content that is in plain language. Participants will interact with our psychometrically-validated tool that supports providers in targeting content to their patients’ behavior change needs. Using type 2 diabetes as example, we will showcase how the SCS and BCTs, our tool, and our content work in concert to support both the patient-provider relationship and patients’ self-management efforts. Throughout the seminar participants will engage in discussions and activities to support their learning and adoption of similar frameworks in their organizations.

Seminar 4: Integrating Substance Use Screening, Brief Intervention, and Referral to Treatment (SBIRT) in Health Professions Education

Monroe

Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $100; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $50; Non-Members: $150

Content area: Education, Training and/or Career Development

Instructional level: Beginner/Intermediate

Lead Presenter: Eric Goplerud, PhD, University of Chicago, Chicago, IL

Co-Presenters: Glenn Albright, PhD, City University of New York, New York, NY; and Cyrille Adam, EdM, Kognito, New York, NY

In 2014, 27 million Americans ages 12 and over were living with a substance use disorder. Adolescent substance use is linked to a range of immediate and long-term consequences. Although studies like Monitoring the Future and National Survey on Drug Use and Health have recently shown stable or slight decline in the use of alcohol and certain drugs, alcohol remains the drug of choice, marijuana has increased, and perceptions of harm has decreased. Despite opportunities to address substance use in a range of settings, training and adoption of screening and brief intervention has been slow. Screening, Brief Intervention, and Referral to Treatment (SBIRT), a widely supported prevention/early intervention model, has been shown to be a low-cost, effective approach to addressing risky alcohol use among adults. More recently this model has been applied to prescription medication misuse, marijuana, and illicit drug use with inconsistent but encouraging results. SBIRT is endorsed by government agencies and professional associations based on promising evidence.

Currently, there is little support for SBIRT education in health professions education. NORC at the University of Chicago is funded by the Conrad N. Hilton foundation to increase education opportunities in adolescent SBIRT within associate, undergraduate and graduate social work and nursing programs. Since 2014, NORC has partnered with the Council on Social Work Education, Center for Clinical Social Work, the American Association of Colleges of Nursing and technology company Kognito to support the integration of adolescent SBIRT into required coursework.

This seminar will provide an overview of SBIRT’s process, rationale and evidence. Participants will engage in a discussion about the opportunities, challenges and facilitators to integrate practice-based SBIRT education. Research findings will be shared supporting the effectiveness of virtual patient simulations to help practitioners learn and practice screening and brief interventions in conversation with virtual patients, and improving knowledge, attitudes, and clinical practice around mental health and substance use. Participants will be engaged to develop a plan to implement and sustain SBIRT education, and will have the opportunity to practice and assess their SBIRT skills in two virtual patient simulations.
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 30, 2016

9 a.m. - 11:45 a.m.  Seminar 6: The Path: A Nine-Component Model and Methodology for Training Resilience

Columbia 8

Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $100; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $50; Non-Members: $150

Content area: Stress

Instructional level: Intermediate/advanced

Lead Presenter: Stephen Sideroff, PhD, University of California, Los Angeles, CA

Presenting a model of resilience, and a self-scoring assessment tool. Stress is a significant modifier of emotional and physical symptoms and is maintained unconsciously as a distraction from emotional pain. This resistance along with a feeling of overwhelm contributes to clients’ difficulty in becoming resilient. Session will identify the many aspects of client resistance to restoring autonomic balance and optimal functioning. Presenter will then introduce a nine component model of resilience along with a 40 item self-scored questionnaire that produces a resilience profile for clients, identifying their strengths and areas needing improvement. Seminar participants will have the opportunity to take the questionnaire, self-score and create their personal profile. The nine components fall into three areas: Relationship (with self, with others, and with something greater – spirituality, purpose and service), Organismic Balance and Mastery (physical, mental/cognitive, and emotional) and Process or how one engages in the world (presence, flexibility and power, defined as the ability to get things done). Each of the nine components will be described, along with exercises for their enhancement. The audience will be engaged in training each other, using these exercises, to train greater resilience along each of the nine dimensions.

9 a.m. - 11:45 a.m.  Seminar 7: Iterative Research Designs: Developing, Refining, and Pilot Testing Innovative Approaches to Promoting Behavior Change

Columbia 10

Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $100; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $50; Non-Members: $150

Content area: Diabetes

Instructional level: Intermediate/advanced

Lead Presenter: Sarah S. Jaser, PhD, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN

Co-Presenters: Deborah Ellis, PhD, Wayne State University, Detroit, MI; Nancy Petry, PhD, University of Connecticut, Farmington, CT; Catherine Stanger, PhD, Dartmouth College, Hanover, NH; Shelagh A. Mulvaney, PhD, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN; and Christine M. Hunter, PhD, ABPP, National Institute of Diabetes and Digestive and Kidney Diseases, Bethesda, MD

There is a need to develop new and better interventions to promote behavior change to address problems with adherence. Iterative research designs allow for studies to develop, refine, and pilot test innovative strategies. In this seminar, independently-funded investigators will share strategies for iterative research designs of behavioral interventions, with early feasibility phases informing larger trials. We draw from cognitive training (Cogmed), e-health and technology (interactive apps), positive psychology, mindfulness, and incentive-based approaches to address the same challenge: improving adherence in adolescents and young adults with type 1 diabetes. We will discuss iterative study designs, lessons learned, and tools for decision-making regarding intervention readiness for additional testing and development, including statistical approaches to evaluate small sample sizes. Topics covered in this course have wide-ranging implications for designing and testing behavioral interventions for youth with chronic diseases in particular and for the broader development of novel behavior change interventions.

12 p.m. - 2:45 p.m.  Seminar 9: Beyond Informed Consent: Designing Impactful Orientation Sessions for Randomized Trials to Maximize Engagement and Retention

Lincoln East

Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $100; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $50; Non-Members: $150

Content area: Methods

Instructional level: Intermediate

Lead Presenter: Danielle E. Schoffman, University Of South Carolina, Columbia, SC

Co-Presenters: Michaela Kiernan, PhD, Stanford University, Stanford, CA

Orientation sessions are often the first point of contact for research staff and participants and offer an important opportunity to set the tone of the research experience ahead. However, many studies do not take advantage of the time in orientation sessions to engage participants on a deep level in the research experience as well as provide participants with an understanding of the full commitment involved in enrolling. Seminar 10: Central Sensitization’s Role in Chronic Illness: Treatment Options

Columbia 9
Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $100; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $50; Non-Members: $150
Content area: Pain
Instructional level: Intermediate
Lead Presenter: Judy Embry, PhD, Baylor Scott & White Health, Temple, TX

Central Sensitization has been recently conceptualized and is currently considered to be a common denominator for diverse medical conditions such as temporomandibular joint dysfunction, nonspecific low back pain, vulvar vestibulodynia, migraines, osteoarthritis, noncardiac chest pain, migraine, irritable bowel syndrome, and many so-called “functional” disorders. The concept is not well understood by most medical providers, leading to ineffective treatment, prolonged patient disability, unnecessary testing/diagnostics, high healthcare costs, and frustrated providers, patients, and families. Fortunately, many mental health providers have skills and tools that can help alleviate some of the suffering individuals experience when central sensitization is perpetuating their medical disorders, and there is considerable support in the literature for these approaches. One of the difficulties in treating individuals with central sensitization, however, is the complexity of the phenomenon and the fact that it challenges common understandings of pain. This seminar will address the current knowledge regarding the mechanisms of central sensitization, evidenced-based treatment including psychotherapeutic approaches, and recommendations for educating patients and medical providers about this condition.

Seminar 11: Smart and Connected Health Aspiring Investigator Workshop

Columbia 11
Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $100; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $50; Non-Members: $150
Content area: Technology
Instructional level: Beginner/Intermediate
Lead Presenter: Wendy Nilsen, PhD, National Science Foundation, Arlington, VA

This seminar will be an informational and interactive opportunity for Smart and Connected Health (SCH) Aspiring Investigators to develop skills and address the knowledge gaps necessary to submit a successful SCH proposal. The goal of the SCH Program is to accelerate the development and use of innovative approaches that would support the much needed transformation of health and healthcare. The mission of the Smart and Connected Health program is the development of next generation health and healthcare research through high-risk, high-reward advances in the understanding of and applications in information science, computer science, behavior, cognition, sensors, robotics, bioimaging, and engineering. Realizing the promise of disruptive transformation in health and healthcare will require well-coordinated, multi-disciplinary approaches that draw from the computer and information sciences, engineering, medical, health and social behavioral sciences. The Aspiring Investigator seminar will support the development of researchers interested in submitting research to the SCH program. The seminar will accomplish this through mentorship and didactic sessions to acquaint Aspiring Investigators with the key issues associated with SCH, the joint NSF-NIH review process and the breadth of existing projects funded by the SCH program.

Seminar 12: Building Just-In-Time Adaptive Interventions in Mobile Health: The Role of Micro-Randomized Trials

Columbia 11
Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $100; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $50; Non-Members: $150
Content area: Methods
Instructional level: Beginner/intermediate
Lead Presenter: Inbal Nahum-Shani, PhD, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI
Co-Presenters: Susan Murphy, PhD, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI; Bonnie Spring, PhD, Northwestern University, Evanston, IL; David E. Conroy, PhD, Pennsylvania State University, State College, PA; Predrag Klasnja, PhD, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI; and Daniel Almirall, PhD, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI

A “Just-in-Time Adaptive Intervention” (JITAI) is an emerging mobile health intervention design aiming to provide support “just-in-time”, namely whenever and wherever support is needed; via “adaptation”, namely by using ongoing information on the dynamics of an individual’s emotional, social, physical and contextual state to individualize the type and delivery timing of support. The adaptation in a JITAI is intended to ensure that the right type of support is provided whenever the person is (a) vulnerable and/or open to positive changes, and (b) receptive, namely able and willing to receive, process and utilize the support provided. In this seminar, we will introduce micro-randomized trial (MRT), a new trial design useful tool for addressing scientific questions concerning the construction of JITAIs. Specifically, we will provide an introduction to JITAIs, as well as examples of key scientific questions that need to be addressed in the development of these interventions. We will then discuss how the MRT design can be used to answer these scientific questions and clarify its key design features. Two case studies involving the design of a MRT will be used for illustration. The first concerns the development of a JITAI aiming to address states of heightened vulnerability among smokers attempting to quit. The second concerns the development of a JITAI aiming to capitalize on natural opportunities for promoting physical activity among sedentary adults. Useful data analysis methods for developing JITAIs will be discussed, as well as directions for future research. The emphasis of this seminar is on applications rather than on technical details.

12 p.m. – 6 p.m.
Seminar 13: NIH Grantpersonship: Opportunities to Fund Research and Training

Jefferson West
Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $125; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $75; Non-Members: $175
Content area: Other
Instructional level: Beginner/Intermediate
Lead Presenter: William N. Elwood, PhD, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD
Co-Presenters: Stephane Philogene, PhD, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD; Veronica L. Irvin, PhD, MPH, Oregon State University, Corvallis, OR; Robert M. Kaplan, PhD, Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality, Rockville, MD; Heather Orom, PhD, University at Buffalo, Buffalo, NY; Dawn K. Wilson, PhD, University of South Carolina, Columbia, SC; Richard P. Moser, PhD, National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, MD; Michael J. Stirratt, PhD, National Institute of Mental Health, Rockville, MD; Christopher Wheldon, PhD, National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, MD; Marcia S. Scott, PhD, National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, Bethesda, MD; and Lisa Freund, PhD, and Karen Lee, MD, National Institute on Child Health and Human Development, Rockville, MD

This seminar will provide participants with information and advice to write competitive applications for National Institutes of Health (NIH) funding. The format will include didactic presentations, guidance on summary statement interpretation, and small group mentoring sessions. NIH scientists and review officers will describe current funding opportunities, grant mechanisms, policies, procedures, and steps in the grant submission process. Current and past NIH-based fellows will share experiences on how their fellowships influenced their respective career trajectories. There will be ample time to answer questions regarding programmatic and review issues related to the NIH funding process. In addition, experiential and small-group activities will deepen participants’ knowledge of the grant writing process and provide individually-tailored feedback. Presenters will describe the roles and interactions among various study section participants, including the NIH review officer, review group chair, and assigned reviewers.

Participants who’d like tailored advice for their projects-in-development should bring at least five paper copies of a one- to two-page synopsis of the research aims, hypotheses, and methods. Participants interested in fellowship opportunities should bring a similar number of vitae/biosketches. NIH staff and senior investigators will provide participants with detailed feedback and advice.
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 30, 2016

12 p.m. – 6 p.m.
Seminar 14: The Nuts and Bolts of Behavioral Intervention Development

Monroe

Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $125; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $75; Non-Members: $175

Content area: Methods

Instructional level: Beginner/intermediate

Lead Presenters: Sylvie Naar-King, PhD, Wayne State University, Detroit, MI; and Susan M. Czajkowski, PhD, National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, MD

Co-Presenters: Christine M. Hunter, PhD, ABPP, National Institute of Diabetes and Digestive and Kidney Diseases, Bethesda, MD; Yuan Ji, PhD, NorthShore University HealthSystem, Evanston, IL; Audrey Boruvka, PhD, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI; Inbal Nahum-Shani, PhD, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI; Frank Perna, EdD, PhD, National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, MD; Bethany Raiff, PhD, Rowan University, Glassboro, NJ; Kenneth E. Freedland, PhD, Washington University in St. Louis, St Louis, MO; and Angela J. Jacques-Tiura, PhD, Wayne State University, Detroit, MI

This seminar will provide investigators who are interested in the design and preliminary testing of health-related behavioral interventions an opportunity to: (1) learn about the ORBIT model, a new framework for developing behavioral treatments for chronic diseases; (2) learn about appropriate study designs and methods for early-phase behavioral intervention research, including which methods are appropriate at each phase of the behavioral intervention development process; and (3) apply the ORBIT model and knowledge about relevant methodologies to their own behavioral treatment research. The format will include didactic presentations, question and answer sessions, and small group discussions in which participants will be provided with advice to help them design their own behavioral intervention development project. NIH and extramural behavioral scientists will describe their own experiences in designing and conducting behavioral intervention development studies, bringing these “lessons learned” to bear in advising seminar attendees on their individual projects.

Didactic presentations will provide detailed information about methodologies and study designs most applicable to the early phases of behavioral intervention design and testing (e.g., qualitative research and small-N studies, dose-finding studies, adaptive and fractional factorial designs, and pilot studies), with ample time allotted for questions and discussion. In addition, experiential and small-group activities will deepen participants’ knowledge of and skills needed for designing a behavioral intervention development program, allowing time for tailored advice and feedback.

Participants will be asked to submit in advance a 1-2 page synopsis (e.g., abstract, research aims, hypotheses, proposed methods) of a behavioral intervention development project, which can be one they are considering submitting for funding, along with specific questions they may have regarding the process of behavioral intervention development. These will be discussed in small groups led by NIH staff and senior investigators, allowing participants to receive detailed feedback and advice to enhance the quality of their grant applications for designing, refining and early-phase testing of health-related behavioral interventions.

12 p.m. – 6 p.m.  Seminar 15: The Writing Workshop: Developing Behavioral Change Research and Projects for Publication

Columbia 6
Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $125; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $75; Non-Members: $175

Content area: Other
Instructional level: Beginner/intermediate

Lead Presenter: Barbara Resnick, PHD, CRNP, FAAN, FAANP, University of Maryland, Baltimore, MD
Co-Presenter: Laura L. Hayman, PhD, RN, FAAN, University of Massachusetts, Boston, MA

Publication and scholarly dissemination of innovative interventions focused on changing behavior among individuals across the life span are a critical component to moving research from the lab to the bedside or real world settings. Further it is only through dissemination and implementation of new knowledge that faculty across all disciplines will be able to expose students to these innovative approaches and achieve optimal health globally. Challenges to publishing include such things as lack of sufficient skills in writing, lack of confidence, motivation, infrastructure to support scholarly activities within academic settings, mentoring and time and work load issues, among others. Mentorship, collegial relationships, positive work environments and efficient time management have all been shown to facilitate scholarship. The need for mentoring, in particular, has recently intensified due to an increasing shortage of experienced faculty in academic settings. This full day seminar will guide participants in the development of a manuscript for submission for publication via a section-by-section, hands on practical approach. The seminar will include a series of four 50 minute sessions and time given for the participants to develop some initial outlines and sections of their manuscripts and receive feedback from presenters. Specifically the four sections will address the components of a research based manuscript and include: I. Introduction and background; II Methods; III: Results and IV. Discussion. Powerpoints for these sections have been developed by the presenters and with input from an interdisciplinary team of journal editors. In addition we will review the submission process with participants and provide guidance for how to appropriately respond to editor/reviewer comments. Participants will also receive examples of successful and not successful sections for each section of a research based manuscript and tricks of the trade for exemplary writing. At the end of the seminar the participants will have an outline and focus and beginning draft of their manuscript and access to resources and online support for the continued development of these papers.

12 p.m. – 6 p.m.  Seminar 16: Understanding the Principles at Work in Mind-Body Programs and Integrating those into Behavior Change Interventions

Columbia 8
Full/Associate/Emeritus Members: $125; Student/Trainee or Transitional Members: $75; Non-Members: $175

Content area: Complementary and Integrative Medicine
Instructional level: Intermediate/advanced

Lead Presenter: James Carmody, PhD, University of Massachusetts, Worcester, MA

Behavioral interventions increasingly incorporate mindfulness and other mind-body modalities to support change and maintenance of health-related behaviors and better coping with the distress commonly accompanying unhealthy behaviors. These practices allow experiential recognition of the areas of experience that attention and awareness get caught, and those avoided or missed. Cultivating a capacity to recognize and hold our most difficult parts while still being available for the broader landscape of experience enables creative responding where automatic reactivity and conditioned patterns would otherwise prevail. Although often presented as unique, mind body modalities have their effects through shared psychological principles that are readily learned and adapted. This full day seminar will give participants both the theory and practice of these qualities of attending that are associated with distress and well-being and demonstrate the common ground mindfulness and other mind body programs share with therapeutic modalities such as CBT. Understanding these parallels enables their seamless integration into behavioral change interventions that suit the needs, language and circumstances of your population. The seminar will provide experiential instruction drawn from the presenter’s own research and clinical experience as well as four decades of practice and teaching mindfulness meditation, yoga and mindful movement. There will be opportunity for dialogue, reflection and role-play in creatively adapting, presenting and teaching these principles in ways that make them meaningful and accessible for clients’ individual circumstances including awareness exercises that can be integrated into the experience of daily life. It is suitable for a range of backgrounds. Learning Objectives: Understand theoretical underpinnings of mind body modalities; Practice these principles using mindfulness and mind body exercises; Adapt what is learned to various patient circumstances.

Co-Presenter: Cinnamon S. Bloss, PhD, University of California San Diego, La Jolla, CA

We have rapidly entered an era where researchers collect data ‘on-the-fly,’ in real-time and, subsequently design meaningful, personalized and adaptive health interventions. The technologies include devices/apps that enable data collection via Mobile Imaging, pervasive Sensing, Social-media and Tracking (MISST) methods. While the opportunities are fantastic, standards to guide the responsible and ethical conduct of this research are lagging behind creating challenges for Institutional Review Boards (IRBs) and researchers alike. We have identified a subset of issues that are percolating within the MISST ecosystem. Our data identified research questions and concerns across three categories: (i) informed consent, (ii) risks/benefits, and (iii) data management. These observations have prompted us to consider how to improve the ethical design and review of MISST research. This seminar will apply a Design Thinking (DT) approach to inform a dynamic, ethical learning system with a goal of increasing the effectiveness and efficiency of current research oversight practices. DT is an agile approach that enables groups to define problems, propose solutions, prioritize ideas, design a prototype and plan an implementation strategy. As a formal method for practical and creative resolution of problems, DT emphasizes a phase during which the group focuses on generating as many ideas as possible using thoughtful prompts (e.g., How might we … design ethical standards to guide research using emerging technologies?… create a meaningful informed consent process). Design thinking is also considered particularly useful when addressing problems where the problem itself, as well as the solution, may be unknown or ill-defined at the outset of the problem-solving exercise. During the seminar we will demonstrate the “double diamond 4D” approach where we initially Discover and Define then Develop and Deliver. A high-level goal of this seminar will be to generate ideas for how Society of Behavioral Medicine members, as a key stakeholder group, might foster the ethical conduct of research in the changing landscape of 21st century science. Participants will learn how “Design Thinking” can be used for problem solving by participating in the process of designing the Connected and Open Research Ethics (CORE) project.

6:15 a.m. – 7 a.m. Complementary and Integrative Medicine SIG Presents: Meditation

Columbia 3–4

Instructor: Jennifer L. Matthews, MS

Wake up and start your day off right with a meditation session. This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7 a.m. – 7 p.m. Registration Open

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m. Breakfast Roundtable: Physical Activity SIG Meeting

International Ballroom East

Moderators: Beth A. Lewis, PhD, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis MN; and Melissa A. Napolitano, PhD, George Washington University, Washington, DC

The Physical Activity SIG will provide an update on membership, give out the local innovator and outstanding student abstract awards, and provide a forum for attendees to discuss current topics related to physical activity research and funding. This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m. Breakfast Roundtable: Introducing the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation’s Culture of Health Mission and Research Funding Programs

International Ballroom West

Moderator: Tracy Orleans, PhD, Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, Princeton, NJ

This two-part roundtable will introduce: (1) RWJF’s new mission to build a Culture of Health in America, in which everyone has the opportunity to live their healthiest life possible; and (2) three new national research programs which together will award $25M over the next three years for innovative research on policies, laws, system interventions, and community dynamics that improve health and well-being, with emphasis on sectors not typically associated with health, such as transportation and housing.

Representatives from RWJF (Tracy Orleans) and its RAND Corporation partners (Anita Chanda and Vivian Towe) will join national research program leaders to describe the following new research funding programs:

- Evidence for Action, led by Nancy Adler and David Vlahov at UCSF, and Claire Gibbons and Tracy Costigan at RWJF, will support a new program of investigator-initiated research that spans the full range of topics and methodologies needed to build an evidence base for a Culture of Health.
- Policies for Action, led by Scott Burris at Temple University and Kerry Anne McGeeary and Mona Shah at RWJF, will explore how policies, laws and regulations in both the public and private sectors can support a Culture of Health. This new program will build on the work of RWJF’s Public Health Law Research Program.
THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 2016

- Systems for Action, led by Glen Mays and Anna Hoover at the University of Kentucky, and Carolyn Miller and Oktawia Wojcik at RWJF, will identify and explore system innovations and interactions to align the delivery and financing systems that support a Culture of Health including medical care, public health and prevention, and social and community services. It will build on the work of RWJF’s National Coordinating Center for Public Health Services and Systems Research.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Technology SIG Presents: Technology Preview aka Tech Madness

Lincoln East

Moderator: David Ahern, PhD, Brigham & Women's Hospital and the National Cancer Institute, Boston MA

The Technology SIG will host a preview of the day's technology-oriented talks, panels, and symposia, with speakers providing brief summaries of their presentations. The meeting will also provide an open forum for discussion of the technology related activities at the SBM meeting. The Technology SIG will also be presenting their Student Award for Innovation to Stephanie P. Goldstein, Drexel University, Philadelphia, PA; and their Student Award for Significance to the Field of Digital Health to Brooke T. Nezami, MA, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Chapel Hill, NC.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Civic and Public Engagement Committee Presents: How are Behavioral Scientists Affecting Health Policy in their States? Stories from the Homefront

Lincoln West

Moderators: Sherry Pagoto, PhD, University of Massachusetts Medical School, Worcester, MA; Stephenie Lemon, PhD, University of Massachusetts Medical School, Worcester, MA; and Paul Korte, PhD, Harry S. Truman Memorial Veterans’ Hospital, Fulton, MO

Behavioral science has enormous potential to impact policy but only if behavioral scientists engage at the policy level. Three SBM members will tell their stories of how they have gotten involved at the policy level in their states and what motivated them to do so. Dr. Pagoto will talk about how she had the opportunity to inform Massachusetts state legislators of the science about the dangers of indoor tanning as they contemplated legislation banning indoor tanning in minors. Dr. Lemon will discuss her role in a local public health collaborative in which she has the opportunity to inform policies and strategic priorities related to physical activity and healthy eating. Dr. Korte will talk about his involvement in the Missouri Psychological Association and its advocacy for Medicaid to reimburse for Health and Behavior CPT codes. Attendees will be invited to listen as well as tell their stories of how they have gotten involved in policy in their cities or states. The purpose of the session will be to inspire SBM members to find ways to connect with policymakers and stakeholders locally to bring the science to the policy table.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Integrated Primary Care SIG Business Meeting

Georgetown East

Moderator: James E. Aikens, PhD, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI

The Integrated Primary Care SIG business meeting will include discussion of: SIG activities, budget, and governance; collaborative efforts; announcement of the 2016 Trainee Travel Award; and networking with potential collaborators.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Multiple Health Behavior Change SIG Business Meeting

Georgetown West

Moderators: Lori A. J. Scott-Sheldon, PhD, The Miriam Hospital Brown University, Providence, RI; and Jayson J. Spas, PhD, Rhode Island College, South Kingstown, RI

The focus of the 2016 Multiple Health Behavior Change SIG business meeting is to (a) review the findings from our survey of MHBC SIG members, (b) discuss ideas for future activities, and (c) present awards to the Outstanding Graduate Student and/or Post-Doctoral Fellow Oral Abstract Awardees. The award winner(s) will present a brief oral presentation of their research during the meeting. Those interested in joining the MHBC SIG are welcome to attend.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.
Thursday, March 31, 2016

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.
Breakfast Roundtable: Obesity and Eating Disorders and Student SIGs Present: Achieving Work/Life Balance in an Age of Opportunities

Jefferson East

Moderators: Brenna N. Renn, MA, Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, TX; and Morgan Lee, MA, University of South Florida, Tampa, FL

Co-Presenters: Kristin Schneider, PhD, Rosalind Franklin University of Medicine and Science, North Chicago, IL; Monica L. Wang, ScD, MS, Boston University, Boston, MA; Andrea T. Kozak, PhD, Oakland University, Rochester, MI; Laura L. Hayman, PhD, RN, FAAN, University of Massachusetts Boston, Boston, MA; Lori Pbert, PhD, University of Massachusetts Medical School, Worcester, MA

This panel discussion will provide participants at different levels of training (e.g., undergraduate student, graduate student, post-doctoral fellow, assistant professor) with advice and strategies on how to make career-related decisions with personal life issues in mind.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.
Breakfast Roundtable: Spirituality and Health Business Meeting

Jefferson West

Moderators: John Salsman, PhD, Wake Forest School of Medicine, Winston-Salem, NC; and Andrea Clements, PhD, East Tennessee State University, Johnson City, TN

Modifications to the Spirituality and Health SIG election process will be presented and voted on. Ideas for increased collaboration will be presented and discussed.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.
Breakfast Roundtable: Population Health Science SIG Business Meeting

Monroe

Moderators: Lila J. Finney Rutten, PhD, MPH, and Teresa M. Smith, PhD, MS, Mayo Clinic, Rochester, MN

This session will offer Dr. Smith a chance to describe her priorities and plans for the SIG.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.
Breakfast Roundtable: Scientific and Professional Liaison Council and International Society of Behavioral Medicine Present: Collaborations on Global Behavioral Health

Fairchild

Moderators: Sherri Sheinfeld Gorin, PhD, Columbia University National Cancer Institute/NYPAC, New York, NY; Frank J. Penedo, PhD, Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine, Chicago IL; and Joost Dekker, PhD, VU University Medical Center, Amsterdam, Netherlands

This session between the International Society of Behavioral Medicine (ISBM) and SBM’s Scientific and Professional Liaison Council (SPLC) will foster liaisons toward development of a health policy brief or joint publication focused on an area of global behavioral health, such as disseminating the HPV vaccine. The session will be interactive, and will also introduce attendees to ISBM, of which SBM is a founding society. ISBM seeks to promote effective international communication between individuals and national groups to facilitate research, clinical, and training activities on a worldwide basis. ISBM publishes the International Journal of Behavioral Medicine, and plans to hold its 2016 congress in Melbourne, Australia. As SBM is a member society, SBM members are in turn a part of ISBM, can receive the ISBM journal, and can register at a reduced rate for the 2016 Congress.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.
THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 2016

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Panel: Coordination of Clinical Research Using Free Web- and Smartphone-Based Tools: The Current and Future Landscape

Cabinet

Moderators: Christina M. Hopkins, BS, University of Pennsylvania, PA; and Madelyn Ruggieri, BA, and E. Amy Janke, PhD, University of the Sciences, Philadelphia, PA

Clinical research could not be complete without the hard work of a well-managed research team. With more of us working remotely and collaborating with investigators in other locations, it is becoming increasingly necessary to manage a larger and more diverse team of research staff, not all of whom are physically present for all projects. This panel will discuss web- and smartphone-based tools used to facilitate seamless research staff management and coordination. Tools discussed will include: (1) collaborative task list software, (2) shared note-taking programs, and (3) a private chat service for quick communications. In a University-based research lab investigating health behavior change, investigators and clinical coordinators have used these tools successfully to manage a team of undergraduate and graduate students, as well as continue to collaborate with students post-graduation. A demonstration of all tools will be included, as well as additional resources for other tools not used by this team. Group discussion following the panel presentation will focus on current needs of clinical researchers that could be addressed by future programs.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Theories and Techniques of Behavior Change Intervention (TTBCI) SIG Meeting

Columbia 6

Moderator: Heather L. Gainforth, PhD, University of British Columbia, Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

The focus of the SIG is to exchange ideas and foster collaboration with the aims of a) developing methods for specifying intervention content, b) evaluating the theory base of interventions, and c) linking behavior change techniques to theory. The first half of this meeting will report on the third year of the TTBCI SIG, discuss ideas for future activities and plan for the coming year and for the longer-term. The second half of this meeting will consist of a fast-paced data blitz showcasing student abstracts being presented at SBM that are relevant to the SIG’s focus. Following the data blitz, students will have the opportunity to discuss their research with senior mentors and members of the SIG.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Violence and Trauma SIG Breakfast Business Meeting

Columbia 8

Moderator: Emily F. Rothman, ScD, University College London, London, United Kingdom

This is the annual in-person business meeting of the Violence and Trauma SIG.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Sleep SIG-in-Formation Organization Meeting

Columbia 9

Moderator: Tracy Trevorrow, PhD, Chaminade University, Honolulu, HI

A new SBM SIG is being formed, centered on behavioral sleep medicine. This will be the first organizing meeting of the Sleep SIG-in-Formation. For our inaugural breakfast meeting, all SBM members with interest in sleep-related issues are encouraged to attend, regardless of training background. A special invitation is extended to student members. The Sleep SIG-in-Formation aims to promote awareness of the role of sleep and circadian rhythms in health and well-being. It will serve as a forum for advancing behavioral sleep medicine through collaboration among SBM members, for increasing sleep-related program presentations and workshops at SBM conferences, and for supporting junior investigators who have interests in sleep research, clinical assessment and treatment of sleep disorders, and community and organizational policy.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.
THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 2016

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m. Breakfast Roundtable: Ethnic Minority and Multicultural Health SIG Business Meeting

Columbia 10

Moderators: Clement Gwede, PhD, MPH, RN, FAAN, H Lee Moffitt Cancer Center, Tampa, FL; and Jamilia Sly, PhD, ICAHN School Medicine at Mount Sinai, New York, NY

The EMMH SIG business meeting will convene members to discuss several SIG business matters including mentoring, student and early career awards, SIG leadership, 2016 SIG sessions, and future SIG activities and conference planning. We plan to present the recipients of our annual student and early-career research abstract awards. The award winners will each give a 5-minute overview of their study. We will also present the EMMH mentoring award to an SBM member who has demonstrated outstanding mentoring qualities, particularly for ethnic minorities. Finally, we will acknowledge the dedication and commitment of an EMMH SIG member through our first annual service award. The remainder of the meeting will be dedicated to reviewing EMMG SIG business. This will include a review of SIG activities in the past year, the current EMMH SIG pre-conference day and mentoring sessions and symposia, financial reports from the last year and co-chair election results (and transition of new co-chair). The EMMH SIG will have a brief discussion of potential topics and next steps the SIG should focus on in 2016-2017.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m. Breakfast Roundtable: Health Decision Making SIG Business Meeting

Columbia 11

Moderators: Christine Rini, PhD, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Chapel Hill, NC; and Sarah Lillie, PhD, Minneapolis VA Center for Chronic Disease Outcomes Research, Minneapolis, MN

The Health Decision Making SIG will provide a preview of this year’s sponsored events, discuss future goals, host the Annual HDM Awards Ceremony, elect new leadership, and serve as a meet-and-greet.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

8:15 a.m – 9:30 a.m. Symposium 1: New Approaches to Obesity Prevention and Treatment: Findings From the Obesity-Related Behavioral Intervention Trials (ORBIT)

International Ballroom East

Content area: Obesity

Instructional level: Beginner/intermediate

Chair: Susan M. Czajkowski, PhD, National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, MD

Presenters: Hollie Raynor, PhD, RD, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, TN; Angela J. Jacques-Tiura, PhD, Wayne State University, Detroit, MI; and Erica Phillips, MD, MS, Weill Cornell Medical College, New York, NY

Discussant: Bonnie Spring, PhD, Northwestern University, Chicago, IL

International Ballroom Center
Content area: Cardiovascular and obesity
Instructional level: Beginner/intermediate
Presenter: Sean Duffy, Omada Health, San Francisco, CA
Moderator: James F. Sallis Jr., PhD, University of California-San Diego, San Diego, CA
Technology and design have the potential to rapidly scale behavioral medicine advances. Learn about the opportunities, pitfalls, and successes in bringing behavioral medicine to the masses via a discussion on the transformative intersection between technology and behavioral medicine, as well as a case study of Omada Health’s Prevent, an evidence-based program targeting obesity-related chronic disease. Mr. Duffy is co-founder and CEO of Omada Health.
This session not eligible for continuing education credit.
THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 2016

11 a.m. – 12 p.m.  Midday Meeting: Evidence-Based Behavioral Medicine SIG Midday Roundtable

International Terrace

Moderators: E. Amy Janke, PhD, University of the Sciences, Philadelphia, PA; and Joanna Buscemi, PhD, University of Illinois at Chicago, Chicago, IL

This will be an open-area session with time for networking. Drs. Janke and Buscemi will review Evidence-Based Behavioral Medicine SIG business including the SIG special issue paper and collaborations with the Cochrane Collaboration. The Outstanding Trainee Award will be presented.

11 a.m. – 12 p.m.  Midday Meeting: Student SIG Presents: Internship Meet and Greet

Cabinet

Moderators: Brenna N. Renn, MA, Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, TX; and Courtney Stevens, MA, University of Colorado-Boulder, Boulder, CO

This informal and interactive meet-and-greet will feature representatives and/or current interns from several Psychology internship sites that provide specialized training in behavioral medicine. Come prepared to network, learn about site-specific training opportunities, and get your questions answered.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

11 a.m. – 12 p.m.  Midday Meeting: Physical Activity SIG Presents: Meet the Physical Activity Experts

Columbia 6

Moderators: Melissa A. Napolitano, PhD, George Washington University, Washington, DC; and Beth Lewis, PhD, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, MN

The purpose of this midday meeting is to provide an opportunity for junior SBM members to meet with experts in the physical activity field. The experts will include Abby King (older adults, state-of-the-art communication technologies; community-based participatory research perspectives to address health disparities among disadvantaged populations), Bess Marcus (theory-based measurement and interventions, technology and behavioral medicine, culturally tailored interventions), Loretta DiPietro (aging and physical activity, accelerometry, metabolic risk factors, physical activity and public health), Cheryl Albright (interventions targeting sedentary behaviors, physical activity, and obesity/weight management using technology such as Google TV). This midday session will create a helpful environment to assist junior researchers in advancing their own science.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

11 a.m. – 12 p.m.  Midday Meeting: Scientific and Professional Liaison Council, Technology SIG, American Medical Informatics Association, and Journal of the American Medical Informatics Association Present: The State of Science in Applying Bioinformatics to Enhance Patient Engagement

Columbia 8

Moderators: Miho Tanaka, PhD, MPH, Department of Veterans Affairs, Washington, DC; David K. Ahern, PhD, National Cancer Institute, Rockville, MD; Sherri Sheinfeld Gorin, PhD, Columbia University/National Cancer Institute/NYPAC, New York, NY; and Doug Fridisma, MD, PhD, Karen Greenwood, and Nancy Lorenzi, PhD, FACMI, American Medical Informatics Association, Bethesda, MD

This session will bring informatics researchers and behavioral scientists together to identify good practices for the use of information technology to facilitate patient engagement/patient-centered care. Presenters will identify the key factors for linking the use of technology with enhanced patient engagement and patient centered care. Due to innovations in mobile apps and social media technologies, opportunities to enhance patient engagement in health care are great. Many health care plans and research entities have implemented mobile apps and social media approaches to engage patients in medical decision making and self-management of their health conditions. The impact of these technology-mediated interventions on patient-centered care is not yet fully understood, however, either conceptually or empirically. We have limited scientific knowledge about the types of informatics tools or interventions that facilitate patient engagement/patient centered care, what types of intervention designs are promising, and in which health care contexts the informatics tools/interventions work best. These are critical questions to be explored during this midday session. The session will be amplified by a special collection of related articles published by the Journal of the American Medical Informatics Association and co-marketed with SBM.

Midday Meeting: Cancer SIG Presents: Tips for Mid-Level Career Awards: An Interactive Discussion

Columbia 9

Moderator: Elyse R. Park, PhD, MPH, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, MA

This midday session will comprise a panel discussion focused on key tips, strategies, and lessons learned for successful mid-level career navigation. Panelists will discuss planning, writing and implementing an NIH K24 (midcareer investigator award) mechanism with associated mentorship and training activities. Panel members will represent the NIH and successful K24 awardees. The session will be highly interactive; audience members will have ample opportunities to participate in the discussion and ask questions of the panel. This session is being organized by the Cancer SIG Mentoring Committee.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

Midday Meeting: Child and Family Health SIG Business Meeting

Columbia 10

Moderator: Bernard Fuemmeler, PhD, MPH, Duke University Medical Center, Durham, NC

SIG business will be discussed and three awards will be presented: Student Award, Professional Award for Outstanding Research in Child and Family Health, and Award for Outstanding Achievements in the Field of Child and Family Health. The recipient of the Outstanding Achievements Award, Tonya M. Palermo, PhD, will deliver a talk titled “Using Technology to Deliver Chronic Pain Self-Management Interventions to Children and Adolescents.” Dr. Palermo is professor and director for Child Health Behavior and Development at Seattle Children’s Research Institute.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

Midday Meeting: Complementary and Integrative Medicine SIG Presents: National Center for Complementary and Integrative Health Research Priorities and Funding Opportunities in Behavioral Medicine

Columbia 11

Moderator: Crystal Park, PhD, University of Connecticut, Storrs, CT

Wendy Weber, ND, PhD, MPH, is chief of the Clinical Research in Complementary and Integrative Health Branch at the National Center for Complementary and Integrative Health (NCCIH). She will provide an overview of the most recent data on the utilization of complementary and integrative health approaches; a summary of NCCIH current research priorities related to behavioral medicine; an overview of the NCCIH framework for clinical research of non-pharmacological interventions; and an overview of currently available funding opportunities for behavioral medicine research at NCCIH.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

Midday Meeting: Student SIG Presents: Non-Traditional Careers in Behavioral Medicine

Columbia 12

Moderator: Alesha G. Hruska, MPH, MCHES, University of the Sciences, Philadelphia, PA

In celebration of the diversity of disciplines within in SBM and renewed focus on innovations in the field, the Student SIG will host a variety of panelists from “nontraditional” careers. This session will broaden the scope of possibilities for students, postdocs, and early career professionals to career paths outside of clinical practice and academia.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

As Ben Franklin said, “When you’re finished changing, you’re finished!” This presentation will focus on the state of SBM and the diverse professional opportunities available in behavioral medicine, with a focus on our adaptability and willingness to embrace change. Topics discussed will include leadership, the power of technology and social media to expand the reach and impact of behavioral science, and the role SBM members must play through advocacy and policy work on behalf of the future of behavioral medicine. Dr. Fitzgibbon is president of SBM.

6 p.m. – 7 p.m.  Exhibit Hall Open
Columbia 1–5
Stop by vendors’ tables in the exhibit hall.
This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

6 p.m. – 7 p.m.  Membership and SIG Councils Present: New Member Meet and Greet
Columbia 3–4
Moderator: Lorna M. Haughton McNeill, PhD, MPH, The University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center, Houston, TX
If you’re a new SBM member, be sure to stop by this informal meet and greet before checking out the evening poster session. Attendees will hear a few SBM members briefly share how the society has helped their careers. SIG representatives will be on hand to chat and answer questions. The SIGs will also have posters on display to explain their goals and activities. The meet and greet will be a great place to find a buddy for walking the poster hall, plus it’s the only place where new members can redeem the free drink tickets they found in their meeting registration packets!
This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

6:15 a.m. – 7 a.m. Complementary and Integrative Medicine SIG Presents: Meditation

Columbia 3–4

Instructor: Jennifer L. Matthews, MS

Wake up and start your day off right with a meditation session.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7 a.m. – 7 p.m. Registration Open

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m. Breakfast Roundtable: Military and Veterans’ Health SIG Business Meeting and Discussion

International Ballroom East

Moderator: Jeffrey P. Haibach, PhD, Department of Veterans Affairs, Pittsburg, PA

Presenters: Robin M. Masheb, PhD, Yale School of Medicine, New Haven CT; Emily A. Grieser PhD, USAF; Katherine S. Hall, PhD, GRECC Veterans Affairs Medical Center, Durham, NC

This is a dynamic meeting of the Military and Veterans’ Health SIG to nominate leadership, and discuss future goals of the SIG, and discuss other SIG-related endeavors. Come ready to discuss ideas and how you would like your SIG to move forward.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m. Breakfast Roundtable: Student SIG and the Cognitive, Affective, and Social Processes in Health Research (CASPHR) Workgroup Present: Mentored Breakfast with CASPHR

International Ballroom West

Moderators: Courtney Stevens, MA and Angela Bryan, PhD, University of Colorado Boulder, Boulder, CO

The CASPHR Workgroup is composed of a group of experts with the mission of advancing contributions that theories of cognitive, affective, and social processes can make to enhance research and practice. This breakfast meeting will bring together CASPHR-affiliated investigators (e.g., Drs. Alex Rothman, Bill Klein, Angela Bryan) with early stage investigators (e.g., graduate students, postdocs) to focus on these topics. Early stage investigators will have the opportunity to network with senior scientists and gain new perspectives on the challenges and benefits of this work. To participate, students and postdocs must have submitted their submission information and mentor request to the Student SIG prior to the meeting and have been notified of their acceptance.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.
FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 2016

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Cancer SIG Business Meeting

Lincoln East

Moderators: Kristi Graves, PhD, Georgetown University, Washington, DC; and Catherine Alfano, PhD, American Cancer Society, Washington, DC

Please join us for an engaging session in which we will discuss the activities of the Cancer SIG! We are excited to share information about a novel Cancer SIG funding initiative to stimulate new research partnerships. At the session, we will elicit ideas and discuss plans for the upcoming year and present the Outstanding Student Abstract Award and the Outstanding Senior Investigator Award.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Nurses Section: Optimizing the Potential of Nursing Contributions to Behavioral Medicine

Lincoln West

Moderators: Laura L Hayman, PhD, RN, FAAN, University of Massachusetts, Boston, MA; and Barbara Resnick, PhD, CRNP, University of Maryland, Baltimore, MD

This session is designed to bring together the nurses within SBM. It is intended to stimulate and renew enthusiasm and commitment to SBM among all nurses including pre-docs, post-docs, early career and senior investigators and clinicians.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Lessons Learned from International Obesity Prevention: Next Steps

Georgetown East

Moderators: James F. Sallis, Jr., PhD, University of California-San Diego, CA; Frank J. Penedo, PhD, Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine, Chicago IL; and Rachel Ballard, MD, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD

This session will provide an overview of promising international obesity prevention work internationally. Goals are to consider ways to build clear paths of learning from global innovation that can be applied in the US and opportunities for taking effective US innovations internationally. There will be discussion of next steps following the symposia at SBM on obesity prevention in Latin America sponsored by NCCOR (National Childhood Obesity Research Collaborative). Speakers will present 5-min overviews of relevant work, including Tracy Orleans, Mauricio Hernandez Avila, Steve Gortmaker, Abby King, and David Berrigan. Discussion will focus on roles for SBM and ISBM and opportunities for international collaboration. Other funders will be invited to attend.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: The Optimization of Behavioral Interventions SIG Presents: Introduction to Optimizing Behavioral Interventions

Georgetown West

Moderators: Linda M. Collins, PhD, and Kari Kugler, PhD, MPH, Pennsylvania State University, State College, PA; Thelma Mielenz, PhD, Columbia University, New York, NY; David Cavallo, PhD, MPH, RDN, Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, OH; and Sara St. George, PhD, University of Miami Miller School of Medicine, Miami, FL

Do you conduct behavioral intervention research or intend to? Are you looking for ways to streamline the process and improve intervention design, implementation, and efficacy using alternative methods to traditional RCTs? At this session, Dr. Collins, Director of the Methodology Center at Penn State, will give a brief presentation about optimizing behavioral interventions. Afterward, existing and prospective SIG members will have a brainstorming session to discuss how the SIG can promote optimization science and enhance members’ research efforts through collaboration and consultation.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. - 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Women’s Health SIG Business/Networking Breakfast

Jefferson East

Moderators: Jennifer Huberty, PhD, Arizona State University, Phoenix, AZ; and Sara Kornfield, PhD, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA

The Women’s Health SIG business meeting will include discussion of paper submissions, recruiting new members, future directions, career advice, and time for networking.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.
FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 2016

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Diabetes SIG Meeting
Jefferson West
Moderators: Barbara Stetson, PhD, University of Louisville, Louisville, KY; and Karl E. Minges, MPH, Yale University, New Haven, CT
Join members of the Diabetes SIG for breakfast, coffee and conversation as we discuss SIG activities and annual business. Network with researchers and clinicians to plan activities and collaborations for the coming year. Attendees will identify priority areas for the SIG and set goals for collaborative activities. The Diabetes SIG outstanding trainee award will also be presented. SIG and non SIG members are invited. Students and trainees are encouraged to attend.
This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Complementary and Integrative Medicine SIG Networking and Planning Meeting
Monroe
Moderator: Crystal Park, PhD, University of Connecticut, Storrs, CT
Join members of the Complementary and Integrative Medicine SIG for an opportunity to meet over breakfast and coffee. We will discuss SIG activities and annual business. This is a good time to network with others and make plans for the coming year. Some of the topics up for discussion are the awards program and mentoring opportunities. Students and trainees are encouraged to attend
This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Aging SIG Business Meeting
Fairchild
Moderators: Neha P. Gothe, PhD, Wayne State University, Detroit, MI; and Sandra J. Winter, PhD, Stanford Prevention Research Center, Stanford, CA
Aging SIG leaders will provide a preview of this year’s sponsored events, update on the SIG membership, and discuss goals for SIG collaborations for future SBM annual meetings. The SIG will elect new leadership, recognize the out-going chair and present two awards: Aging SIG Outstanding Graduate Research Award and the Local Innovator Award.
This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

7:15 a.m. – 8 a.m.  Breakfast Roundtable: Scientific and Professional Liaison Council, American Academy of Family Physicians, and North American Primary Care Research Group Present: Exploring Common Interests in Primary Care Research, Practice, and Policy
Columbia 8
The purpose of this session is to foster liaisons toward development of joint conference presentations, joint publications, and/or health policy briefs on an areas of mutual interest. Areas of joint interest for discussion at this session include what population health means for primary care practices; best practices for engaging patents; how to design projects with policy impact in mind; and bringing clinical concepts/evidence-based products into practice. The American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP) network includes over 2,000 physicians and clinicians, and approximately 4 million patients. It has 42 research projects in its portfolio including some involving shared decision making, chronic pain, diabetes, and cancer screening. AAFP is expanding its network’s reach on healthy lifestyle interventions, primary care trends, and research with an intentional policy component. The network is also partnering with the North American Primary Care Research Group (NAPCRG) on patient-engagement strategies and research. NAPCRG is the world’s largest organization devoted to research in family medicine, primary care, and related fields, including epidemiology, behavioral sciences, and health services research. NAPCRG provides a forum for presenting new knowledge to guide improvement, redesign, and transformation of primary care.

International Ballroom Center
Content area: Obesity
Instructional level: Beginner/intermediate
Presenter: Jeanette Betancourt, EdD, Sesame Workshop, New York, NY
Moderator: Monica L. Baskin, PhD, University of Alabama at Birmingham, Birmingham, AL
Sesame Workshop, the nonprofit organization that produces Sesame Street, continually addresses the needs of children and families by using the trusted power of Muppets to help children grow smarter, stronger, and kinder. Through ongoing research and community input, Sesame Workshop recognized the potential to use positive media and resources as a way to engage young children in making healthy nutritional choices. The results have been the development of Sesame Street’s Healthy Habits for Life initiative, which has shifted thinking about early childhood nutrition and physical activity as well as about the impact of media as a tool for change. In addition, Sesame Workshop’s research and implementation strategies have found that the development of healthy habits cannot be separated from young children’s social and emotional development nor from the effects of food insecurity on vulnerable families. This talk will discuss such research, including lessons learned and implementation models. Dr. Betancourt is the senior vice president of U.S. social impact for Sesame Workshop.

<tr>
<td></td>
<td>The National Lung Screening Trial recently demonstrated that screening with low-dose CT decreases lung cancer mortality in adults at high risk for lung cancer. Consequently, the USPSTF and major medical organizations now recommend lung cancer screening for high-risk adults, emphasizing shared decision making. This midday meeting will focus on shared decision making in lung cancer screening and the use of policy to promote it. A multi-disciplinary panel will discuss the development of the USPSTF lung cancer screening guidelines, the benefits and potential harms of lung cancer screening, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid policy that patients must undergo shared decision making prior to receiving a screening order, and the implementation of lung cancer screening decision aids. The session will include ample time for a lively discussion.</td>

<td>Social cognitive theories broadly state that a person’s behavior is a function of his or her expectancies of success and value of the behavior. These theories have been widely used to develop and evaluate strategies to prevent illness or promote health-related behaviors (e.g., smoking cessation, physical activity, diet). However, critiques of social cognitive theories and calls for their retirement have emerged in the literature. This session will debate the proposition: “Social cognitive theories no longer provide a comprehensive approach for understanding and improving health related behaviors.” The debate will follow the standard procedure of a mover, opposer, seconder, and second opposer. The debate will then be open to the floor. There will then be closing remarks by the mover and opposer. The impact of the debate on participants’ views will be assessed by a vote taken at the start and at the end. The aim is to have a lively, informative, and enjoyable discussion on a topic where there is merit on both sides of the argument.</td>

FRIDAY MEETING: Women’s Health and Physical Activity SIGs Present: Do I have to Exercise to Lose Weight or Not? A Friendly Debate

Columbia 8
Moderators: Jennifer Huberty, PhD, Arizona State University, Phoenix, AZ; and Beth A. Lewis, PhD, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, MN
The Women’s Health and Physical Activity SIGs are proud to present a discussion about the role of exercise (and nutrition/diet) for weight loss/management in middle-aged women. Panelists will have a “debate” about the necessity of exercise for weight loss among women and the “facts and myths” associated with this topic.
This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

Midday Meeting: Aging and Student SIGs Present: Hear it from the Experts: A Professional Development Panel

Columbia 9
Chair: Neha P. Gothe, MA, MS, PhD, Wayne State University, Detroit, MI
Moderator: Brenna N. Renn, MA, Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, TX
Panelists: Edward McAuley, PhD, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, Champaign, IL; Abby C. King, PhD, Stanford School of Medicine, Stanford, CA; and Barbara Resnick, PhD, RN, CRNP, FAAN, FAANP, University of Maryland School of Nursing, Baltimore, MD
This panel will convene SBM Fellows, including past recipients of the SBM Distinguished Mentor Award and a past SBM president. These senior scientists will offer their advice on broad-sweeping professional development and career development themes, including mentorship related to graduate and post-doctoral careers, interdisciplinary collaboration, and professional leadership. Students, postdoctoral fellows, and early career professionals from all SIGs are welcome.
This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

Midday Meeting: Spirituality and Health SIG Presents: New and Distinguished Investigator Awards and Oral Presentations

Columbia 10
Moderators: John Salsman, PhD, Wake Forest School of Medicine, Winston-Salem, NC; and Andrea Clements, PhD, East Tennessee State University, Johnson City, TN
Crystal L. Park, PhD, of the University of Connecticut, will be presented the Distinguished Investigator in Spirituality and Health Award, and Kelly M. Trevino, PhD, of Weill Cornell Medical College at Cornell University, will be presented the New Investigator Award. Awardees will provide a review of their work and future directions.

FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 2016

11 a.m. – 12 p.m.  Midday Meeting: Integrated Primary Care and Women's Health SIGs Present: From the Exam Room to the Delivery Room: Maternal Health in an Integrated Behavioral Health Setting

Columbia 11

Co-Chairs: Kathryn E. Kanzler, PsyD, ABPP, University of Texas Health Science Center of San Antonio, San Antonio, TX; and Jennifer Huberty, PhD, Arizona State University, Phoenix, AZ

Panelists: Kendra Campbell, PhD, University of Alaska Fairbanks, Fairbanks, AK; Jenn Leiferman, PhD, University of Colorado Health Science Center, Denver, CO; and Leigh Ann Simmons, PhD, Duke University, Durham, NC

Integrated behavioral health in primary care is critical for good overall healthcare. A majority of women during childbearing age receive their primary care services in OB/GYN clinics, presenting an opportunity to promote healthy lifestyle behaviors. Pregnant and postpartum women are at risk for a variety of behavioral health concerns such as stress, depression, and overweight/obesity, all of which can be addressed in the context of maternal healthcare. The purpose of this panel is to address behavioral health both during pregnancy through delivery/postpartum within the integrated healthcare setting. Panelists will discuss: 1) considerations and suggestions for addressing prenatal stress and psychological health in routine prenatal care, 2) how to train OB providers to counsel on prenatal health behaviors and manage perinatal mood disorders in their patients, as well as how to connect the clinical setting with community resources, and 3) how to help women manage their weight during pregnancy and postpartum.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

11 a.m. – 12 p.m.  Midday Meeting: Pain SIG Award Session

Columbia 12

Moderator: Lara Dhingra, PhD, MJHS Institute for Innovation in Palliative Care, New York, NY

The purpose of the Pain SIG Awards Session will be to recognize meritorious research submissions by student members of SBM.

This session not eligible for continuing education credit.

11 a.m. – 12 p.m.  Panel Discussion 11: Sink or Swim! Experience from Early Career Professionals

12:30 p.m. – 1 p.m.  Master Lecture: The Role of School Nutrition in Children’s Health and Well-Being: Where We’ve Been, Where We Are, and Where We’re Going

International Ballroom East

Content area: Child/adolescent health and nutrition
Instructional level: Beginner/intermediate
Moderator: Kenneth Tercyak, PhD, Georgetown University Medical Center/Lombardi Comprehensive Cancer Center, Washington, DC

Young people generally consume as many as half of their calories at school each day. As such, schools are major contributors to children’s nutrition. Driven by passionate professionals, updated nutrition standards, and an increased appreciation for the role of nutrition in academic performance, school nutrition is changing for the better. Ms. Black, director of the Pew Charitable Trusts’ and Robert Wood Johnson Foundation’s Kids Safe and Healthful Foods Project, will discuss the progress made, challenges faced, and impact on young people today.

JESSIE GRUMAN AWARD FOR HEALTH ENGAGEMENT
Recognizes pivotal and extensive contributions to research, practice, or policies that have advanced the understanding of patient engagement
Kate Lorig, DrPH

DISTINGUISHED RESEARCH MENTOR AWARD
Recognizes a mentor who successfully navigates a research career while helping direct the future of behavioral medicine by fostering excellence in mentees
Deborah Bowen, PhD

DISTINGUISHED SCIENTIST AWARD
Recognizes total career achievement and scholarly distinction in the field of behavioral medicine
Francis J. Keefe, PhD

RESEARCH TO PRACTICE AWARD
Recognizes exemplary work in translating behavioral medicine research into practical application, dissemination, or implementation
Claudio Nigg, PhD

EXCELLENCE IN BEHAVIORAL MEDICINE TRAINING PROGRAM AWARD
Honors a program that provides exemplary behavioral medicine training
Stanford Prevention Research Center

EARLY CAREER INVESTIGATOR AWARD
Recognizes career achievement, including a published paper that shows scientific rigor and innovation in the field of behavioral medicine
Brie Turner-McGrievy, PhD, MS, RD
Monica L. Wang, ScD, MS

OUTSTANDING DISSERTATION AWARD
Recognizes excellence in student behavioral medicine research
Jennifer L. Moss, PhD

DISTINGUISHED STUDENT EXCELLENCE IN RESEARCH AWARD
Recognizes students who demonstrate excellence in student-conducted behavioral medicine research
Stephanie Kerrigan, MS
Courtney Stevens

DISTINGUISHED STUDENT TRAVEL SCHOLARSHIP
Recognizes students who show outstanding potential to make significant contributions in behavioral medicine via attendance at the SBM Annual Meeting
Stephanie Goldstein
Mindy McEntee, MS
Karl E. Minges, MPH

C. TRACY ORLEANS DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD
Recognizes the dedicated service of SBM Board members whose terms end this year
Alan M. Delamater, PhD, Publications and Communications Council chair
Lisa M. Klesges, PhD, past-president, Nominating Committee chair

LEADERSHIP INSTITUTE

The 2016 Annual Meeting marks the official kickoff of SBM’s new Leadership Institute for mid-career members.

SBM President Marian L. Fitzgibbon, PhD, identified mid-career training as a high-need area and began creation of the institute. Too often mid-career individuals are overlooked, despite the fact that they often find themselves at pivotal career junctures where leadership skills or career coaching would prove helpful.

The Leadership Institute will offer training on negotiating, welcoming diversity, teambuilding, and career planning. An intensive two-day training during the Annual Meeting will be followed by a year of professional one-on-one coaching and small group mentoring, during which time participants will complete individual leadership projects.

Congratulations to the institute’s inaugural group of fellows. Special thanks to the SBM members who graciously agreed to serve as institute mentors or panelists. Special thanks also to the SBM members who served on the institute Steering Committee and helped the idea take shape.

SBM RESOURCE BOOTH

The SBM resource booth will feature information on SBM membership, SIGs, publications, and more.

JOB OPENINGS BOARD

A self-service job openings board is available onsite at the SBM Annual Meeting near the registration desk for meeting attendees to self-post position openings on behalf of an institution. All position announcements should be prepared on an 8.5-x-11-in. sheet of institutional letterhead. Each announcement should indicate the duties, requirements, geographical and departmental location, salary, start date, and instructions for submission of resumes/applications.

Attendees planning to post a job opening should bring multiple copies as SBM cannot be responsible for removal of notices by other meeting attendees. All posting is self-service and a benefit of attending the SBM Annual Meeting.

BUSINESS MEETING

On Saturday, April 2 at 7:30 a.m., SBM President Marian L. Fitzgibbon, PhD, will convene the annual business meeting. SBM leaders will report on the state of the organization including its finances and membership. Potential SBM Bylaws changes will be voted on. Results of the election for two SBM Board positions—president-elect and member delegate—will be announced, and the president-elect will commence his or her presidential term.

POSTER MENTORING PROGRAM

SBM fellows kindly volunteer their time and expertise to provide feedback on students’ poster presentations during SBM poster sessions. Students interested in having their oral poster presentation critiqued in person by an SBM fellow should indicate their interest when submitting their abstracts. A number of students will be randomly selected to participate in the program. Fellows will be assigned to the selected students according to shared behavioral medicine interests.

VOLUNTEERING

SBM student/trainee members can volunteer during the meeting for a reimbursed registration. Slots are limited and offered through a call for volunteers. Volunteers help check in attendees at the registration desk and help SBM staff with other miscellaneous activities.

SPECIAL INTEREST GROUPS

SBM offers 23 different special interest groups (SIGs) to its members. Each SIG has a unique listserv email recipient list, facilitating critical networking among colleagues with similar behavioral medicine interests.

Membership in one or more SIGs is a benefit available to all SBM members. To join a SIG log into www.sbm.org and update your member profile. Not an SMB member? Join today at www.sbm.org/membership and sign up for one or more SIGs!

AGING
Co-Chair: Neha P. Gothe, PhD, nehagothe@wayne.edu
Co-Chair: Sandra J. Winter, PhD, MHA, sjwinter@stanford.edu

The Aging SIG focuses on addressing the special issues of behavior change among older adults, with a particular focus on the influence of cultural, environment, and policy. There is a tendency to focus behavior change issues and challenges on the children and adults who are assumed to be those who will reap the greatest long-term benefit from changes. Older adults, particularly those with chronic health problems, can likewise gain a significant benefit from behavior change particularly with regard to quality of life issues. The Aging SIG has identified a need and interest in exploring ways that older adults, particularly those with chronic illnesses, can alter their behavior to promote health and quality of life.

CANCER
Chair: Kristi D. Graves, PhD, kdg9@georgetown.edu
Co-Chair: Catherine M. Alfano, PhD, catherine.alfano@cancer.org

The Cancer SIG fosters high-quality collaborative research, enhances the professional development of its members, and works with other professional organizations involved in cancer prevention and control research. The goal is to advance and disseminate knowledge across the breadth of cancer control, ranging from cancer prevention to end of life care, including all ages, racial and ethnic groups, and socioeconomic strata.

CHILD AND FAMILY HEALTH
Chair: Bernard Fuemmeler, PhD, MPH, bernard.fuemmeler@duke.edu
Co-Chair: Nataliya Zelikovsky, PhD, MPH zelikovsky@lasalle.edu

The Child and Family Health SIG is an interdisciplinary forum for SBM members concerned with the health and well-being of children, adolescents, and families. Members of this SIG have interest in bridging biological, cognitive, emotional, behavioral, and social functioning of children and adolescents with a focus on understanding contextual, social ecological influences on child health and development. This SIG aims to advance and disseminate knowledge, foster professional networks to produce high-quality collaborative research, and ultimately enhance the health and well-being of children, adolescents, and families.

COMPLEMENTARY AND INTEGRATIVE MEDICINE
Chair: Crystal L. Park, PhD, crystal.park@uconn.edu

According to the National Center on Complementary and Alternative Medicine of the National Institutes of Health, complementary and alternative medicine (CAM) refers to a broad range of healing approaches that mainstream Western medicine does not commonly use, accept, study, understand, or make available. This SIG provides a forum for discussion of CAM as it relates to behavioral medicine, with a particular emphasis on the integrative nature of such modalities, by themselves and in conjunction with other modalities of biopsychosocial care.

DIABETES
Chair: Barbara Stetson, PhD, barbara.stetson@louisville.edu
Student Co-Chair: Karl Minges, MPH, karl.minges@yale.edu
Student Co-Chair: Allison Lewinski, MPH, BSN, alewinski@gmail.com
Student Co-Chair: Amanda Phillips, amandaphillips@my.unt.edu
Annual Meeting Coordinator: Robin Whittemore, PhD, robin.whittemore@yale.edu

The Diabetes SIG is a forum for SBM members with an interest in the advancement of behavioral and psychological research in diabetes. SIG goals are to (1) increase the presence of high-quality behavioral medicine research in diabetes at the SBM Annual Meeting; (2) encourage interdisciplinary collaboration among researchers, clinicians, educators, and public health advocates that emphasizes the importance of the prevention and treatment of diabetes; and (3) support professional networking and the training of young investigators and students interested in diabetes research.

ETHNIC MINORITY AND MULTICULTURAL HEALTH
Co-Chair: Jamilia R. Sly, PhD, jamilia.sly@mssm.edu
Co-Chair: Clement K. Gwede, PhD, MPH, RN, FAAN clement.gwede@moffitt.org

The Ethnic Minority and Multicultural Health SIG concerns itself with advancing the field of ethnic minority and multicultural health through education and training; networking; mentorship of ethnic minorities and non-minorities; and conducting research in ethnicity, culture, and health. Members of this SIG also aim to increase the involvement of ethnic minorities in SBM councils, committees, and the peer-review process.
SBM INFORMATION

EVIDENCE-BASED BEHAVIORAL MEDICINE
Co-Chair: E. Amy Janke, PhD, e.janke@uscience.edu
Co-Chair: Joanna Buscemi, PhD, joanna.buscemi@gmail.com
Evidence-based medicine has recently come to the forefront as an approach by which to evaluate and practice medicine. Evidence-based behavioral medicine is a relatively young field that has similar purposes. Researchers, clinicians, students, and policymakers may all wish to become better acquainted with the history, principles, and future directions of this field.

HEALTH DECISION MAKING
Chair: Christine M. Rini, PhD, christine.rini@unc.edu
Co-Chair: Sarah E. Lillie, PhD, sarah.lillie@va.gov
The Health Decision Making (HDM) SIG provides a forum within SBM to advance the theory, science, and practice of health decision making, particularly as applied in behavioral medicine. The HDM SIG has a special interest in understanding informed decision making by population members and patients, shared decision making between patients and health professionals, and clinical decision making by health professionals. The HDM SIG is the point of contact for liaisons between SBM and other organizations relevant to health decision making such as the Society of Medical Decision Making and the Society for Judgment and Decision Making. Connect with the SIG on Twitter @sbmdecisions.

INTEGRATED PRIMARY CARE
Co-Chair: James E. Aikens, PhD, aikensj@umich.edu
Co-Chair: Kathryn E. Kanzler, PsyD, ABPP, kanzler@uthscsa.edu
The Integrated Primary Care SIG is devoted to promoting and enhancing the delivery of evidence-based behavioral health care in primary care settings. The SIG provides a forum for the exchange of information and the fostering of relationships between behavioral health and medical professionals in order to (1) facilitate the integration of behavioral health professionals and biopsychosocial interventions into primary care settings; (2) advance research of behavioral health interventions in primary care; (3) support the training of students pursuing integrated primary care; and (4) inform the development of policies that impact behavioral health care in primary care settings.

MILITARY AND VETERANS’ HEALTH
DoD Co-Chair: Emily Grieser, PhD, emily.grieser@gmail.com
VA Co-Chair: Jeffrey P. Haibach, PhD, MPH, jeffrey.haibach@va.gov
VA Co-Chair: Robin M. Masheb, PhD, robin.masheb@yale.edu
Communications Officer: Katherine Hall, PhD, katherine.hall@duke.edu
The Military and Veterans’ Health SIG is an interdisciplinary group of researchers, clinicians, and educators who are committed to promoting research, prevention, clinical assessment and intervention, policy development, education, training, and mentoring in military and veterans’ health. The SIG invites those who have an interest in promoting health within the unique healthcare systems of the U.S. departments of Defense and Veterans Affairs, as well as those interested in improving health outcomes in active duty service members and veterans from around the globe.

MULTI-MORBIDITIES
Chair: Jerry M. Suls, PhD, jerry.suls@nih.gov
The dominant tendency in behavioral medicine has been to focus on one physical condition at a time; however, having two or more physical diseases (multi-morbidities)—or being at risk for other diseases by having an index condition—is common, especially among older adults. Multi-morbid conditions often have common risk factors and pathogenesis, and are the targets of similar behavioral interventions. The SIG affords the opportunity to consider health promotion, treatment, and common biological mechanisms for translational research across disease silos.

MULTIPLE HEALTH BEHAVIOR CHANGE
Chair: Lori A. J. Scott-Sheldon, PhD, lori_scott-sheldon@brown.edu
Co-Chair: Jayson J. Spas, PhD, MS, jspas@ric.edu
The Multiple Health Behavior Change SIG aims to contribute to the development of a science of multiple behavior change for health promotion and disease management. Intervening on multiple health behaviors presents a unique set of challenges. This group addresses theoretical, methodological, interventional, statistical, and funding issues related to targeting multiple health behaviors for change. Relevant targeted behaviors include but are not limited to: tobacco and other drug use, physical activity, nutrition, HIV-risk behaviors, sun exposure, and stress.
OBESITY AND EATING DISORDERS
Co-Chair: Andrea T. Kozak, PhD, kozak@oakland.edu
Co-Chair: Monica L. Wang, ScD, MS, mlwang@bu.edu
The purpose of the Obesity and Eating Disorders (OED) SIG is to provide networking, mentorship, and scientific training to those interested in obesity, eating disorders, and weight-related pathology. Members of the OED SIG also aim to advance the field of obesity and eating disorders through the scholarly pursuit of scientific research, with a special emphasis on submitting federal and private foundation grants. Members of this SIG will also receive guidance on how to develop an academic career in obesity and eating disorders.

OPTIMIZATION OF BEHAVIORAL INTERVENTIONS
Chair: Linda M. Collins, PhD, lmcollins@psu.edu
Co-Chair: Kari Kugler, PhD, kck18@psu.edu
Junior Co-Chair: Thelma Mielenz, PhD, tjm2141@columbia.edu
Conference Chair: David Cavallo, david.cavallo@case.edu
Communication Chair: Sara St. George, PhD, s.stgeorge@med.miami.edu
The Optimization of Behavioral Interventions SIG provides opportunities for behavioral scientists and methodologists to network and discuss formal optimization of behavioral interventions. Optimizing a behavioral intervention means engineering the intervention to meet specific and clearly operationalized criteria for effectiveness, efficiency, scalability, and sustainability. Innovative methodological approaches for formal optimization of behavioral interventions are emerging from statistics, engineering, behavioral science, and computer science. The purposes of the SIG are to (1) foster networking and discussion on the topic of optimization of behavioral interventions; (2) facilitate application of methods for optimization of behavioral and biobehavioral interventions; (3) foster expansion and improvement of methodology for intervention optimization; and (4) encourage and help the scientific public, for example those who review grant proposals, to become more familiar with intervention optimization methods.

PAIN
Chair: Lara K. Dhingra, PhD, ldhingra@chpnet.org
Millions of people suffer from painful conditions with wide-ranging physical, psychological, social, and economic consequences. Alleviation of these often devastating consequences requires continuing research and development efforts from the biological, psychological, and social sciences. The goal of the Pain SIG is to advance the understanding of pain and its treatment, according to a biopsychosocial framework. This will be accomplished through (1) increasing interdisciplinary communication; (2) promoting research; (3) providing education and training for both researchers and clinicians; (4) mentoring students and young professionals; and (5) providing a forum for collaboration between interested individuals and groups.

PHYSICAL ACTIVITY
Chair: Beth A. Lewis, PhD, blewis@umn.edu
Co-Chair: Melissa A. Napolitano, PhD, mnapolitano@gwu.edu
The aims of the Physical Activity SIG are to (1) update SBM members on the latest developments and initiatives of relevance to the physical activity field; (2) provide a format for both formal and informal networking among SBM members with physical activity interests; and (3) serve as a forum for advancing the behavioral physical activity field, through developing submissions for the SBM conference, providing an avenue for mentoring junior investigators with physical activity interests, and identifying appropriate individuals interested in serving as reviewers for relevant scientific journals, NIH study sections, and SBM program submissions.

POPULATION HEALTH SCIENCES
Chair: Lila J. Finney Rutten, PhD, MPH, rutten.lila@mayo.edu
Co-Chair: Jennifer L. St. Sauver, PhD, MPH, stsauver.jennifer@mayo.edu
The Population Health Sciences SIG provides a forum for behavioral researchers interested in or engaged in research focused on multiple determinants of health with an emphasis on social, environmental, and organizational influences on health and health-related behavior. Broad areas of research may include but are not limited to the following: translational research focused on developing real-world solutions and policies to improve population health; research focused on informing public health efforts with behavioral science; and secondary analysis of public data resources to examine trends in population health by geographic regions, population subgroups, and socio-environmental factors.

SPIRITUALITY AND HEALTH
Co-Chair: John M. Salsman, PhD, jsalsman@wakehealth.edu
Co-Chair: Andrea D. Clements, PhD, clements@etsu.edu

Until recently the possible links of spiritual and religious factors to health were essentially ignored or unstudied. Empirical studies in the past two decades however have demonstrated significant associations of selected spiritual and religious factors with important health and disease outcomes. The Spirituality and Health SIG seeks to encourage and support well-designed empirical research that sheds clarifying light on what processes are at work. Research can more clearly identify and clarify in what ways spiritual and religious factors may influence health, positively or negatively. Findings can also impact ways to make professional health care practices more effective. Of particular concern is the need to provide up-to-date, accurate information and training, since few professional training programs in health offer adequate preparation on spiritual matters.

STUDENT
Chair: Alesha G. Hruska, MPH, ahruska@mail.usciences.edu
Membership Director: Morgan Lee, MA, mrl1@mail.usf.edu
INSPIRE Representative: Courtney J. Stevens, courtney.stevens@colorado.edu
Annual Meeting Coordinator: Brenna N. Renn, MA, brenn@uccs.edu
Treasurer: Danielle Z. Miro, MA, dzmiro@memphis.edu

The purposes of the Student SIG are to provide a home for student SBM members where their unique needs and concerns can be discussed and addressed, and to facilitate students’ professional development. Additional goals of the Student SIG include promotion of student-oriented programs, activities, and opportunities within SBM; collaboration between students and among students and professionals; and discussion of important topics within the field of behavioral medicine. All student members are encouraged to join and to like the SIG on Facebook by visiting www.facebook.com/sbmstudentsig.

TECHNOLOGY
Chair: David K. Ahern, PhD, dahern@partners.org
Co-Chair: Julie A. Wright, PhD, julie.wright@umb.edu
Student Co-Chair: Zakkoyya Lewis, BS, ATC, zalewisp@utmb.edu

The Technology SIG is designed as a forum for members of SBM with an interest in the impact of information and communication technology on health behavior outcomes and processes. SIG interests incorporate the study of the use of technology by patients and health care providers as well as the design, implementation, and evaluation of behavior change interventions delivered through advanced technologies. The goal is to promote the appropriate use of technologies to improve health and health care.

THEORIES AND TECHNIQUES OF BEHAVIOR CHANGE INTERVENTIONS
Chair: Arlen C. Moller, PhD, amoller@iit.edu
Co-Chair: David M. Williams, PhD, david_m_williams@brown.edu
Junior Co-Chair: Heather L. Gainforth, PhD, heather.gainforth@ubc.ca
Junior Co-Chair: Dejan Magoc, PhD, dmagoc@stetson.edu

The Theories and Techniques of Behavior Change Interventions SIG is an interdisciplinary group of researchers, clinicians, and educators who are committed to developing methods to improve the design and evaluation of interventions aimed at changing preventive, illness-related and health professional behaviors. To date, there has been no shared language for describing the content, especially the “active ingredients,” of behavior change interventions; by contrast, biomedical interventions are precisely specified. There is also increasing recognition of the importance of developing theory-based interventions. The SIG will allow exchange of ideas and will foster collaboration with the aim of developing methods for specifying intervention content, evaluating the theory base of interventions, and linking behavior change techniques to theory.
VIOLENCE AND TRAUMA
Chair: Emily F. Rothman, ScD, erothman@bu.edu
The Violence and Trauma (VT) SIG was formed to provide opportunities for networking, information sharing, and collaboration for those interested in the intersection between trauma and health. The SIG will focus on issues including how traumatic events and adverse childhood experiences impact a variety of outcomes: quality and quantity of life, symptom experiences, experiences and satisfaction with health care, and modifiable behavioral risk factors (e.g., obesity, substance use). The VT SIG will also focus on interventions to prevent trauma and improve the interaction between traumatized individuals and the systems in which they receive care (e.g., trauma-informed care).

WOMEN’S HEALTH
Co-Chair: Jennifer L. Huberty, PhD, jhuberty@asu.edu
Co-Chair: Sara Kornfield, PhD, sara.kornfield@gmail.com
The Women’s Health SIG is an interdisciplinary group of researchers, clinicians, educators, and public health advocates committed to promoting research, clinical and community interventions, and policy as well as education, training, and mentoring in women’s health. The SIG is also dedicated to supporting the professional advancement of women and women’s issues in behavioral medicine. Connect with SIG members by visiting www.facebook.com/womenshealthsig.

New and Important Books from Guilford

Biopsychosocial Assessment in Clinical Health Psychology
Edited by Frank Andrasik, PhD, Jeffrey L. Goodie, PhD, ABPP, and Alan L. Peterson, PhD, ABPP

“Written by a who’s who of research and clinical scholars discussing the biopsychosocial model and psychology’s role across a range of healthcare problems, diagnoses, special populations, and healthcare venues…. The choice of topics is comprehensive and reflects the importance of biopsychosocial assessment across major diseases and for significant cross-cutting healthcare issues.”

—PsycCRITIQUES

Filling a key need, this practical volume provides important approaches and tools for evaluating both health-related behaviors and psychosocial aspects of medical illness. The book begins by presenting a comprehensive biopsychosocial assessment framework. Evidence-based strategies are described for assessing such key lifestyle factors as tobacco use, alcohol and other drugs, physical activity, and social support.

2015, 7" x 10" Hardcover, 512 Pages, ISBN 978-1-4625-1773-2, $80.00, SALE PRICE: $64.00

Biofeedback, FOURTH EDITION
A Practitioner’s Guide
Edited by Mark S. Schwartz, PhD and Frank Andrasik, PhD

“Seminal, compulsory reading for students, clinicians, and scientists entering and working in the field of applied psychophysiology and biofeedback. With their fourth edition, Schwartz and Andrasik have produced yet another state-of-the-science volume that reflects our evolving knowledge of the mind-body connection and the promise it holds for improving human health and performance. This is the essential desk reference for the field.”

—Aubrey K. Ewing, PhD, BCB, BCN

This comprehensive volume is widely regarded as the definitive practitioner resource in the field of biofeedback and applied psychophysiology. Leading experts cover basic concepts, assessment, instrumentation, clinical procedures, and professional issues. Chapters describe how traditional and cutting-edge methods are applied in treatment of a wide range of disorders, including headaches, temporomandibular disorders, essential hypertension, pelvic floor disorders, ADHD, tinnitus, and others.

2016, 7" x 10" Hardcover, 764 Pages, ISBN 978-1-4625-2254-5, $85.00, SALE PRICE: $68.00

NEW Motivational Interviewing in Diabetes Care
Marc P. Steinberg, MD
William R. Miller, PhD

“An incredible resource for those who care for people with diabetes. Starting with the understanding that patients are often ambivalent about behavior change, the authors help readers practice a guiding style and adopt the right ‘mindset and heartset’ for helping patients improve their health. Real-life examples and sample dialogues demonstrate key strategies and drill down into specific diabetes scenarios. The book is full of practical examples of how to guide patients to make changes.”

—Robert A. Gabbay, MD, PhD

2015, 6" x 9" Paperback, 244 Pages
ISBN 978-1-4625-2163-0, $30.00, $24.00

NEW Motivational Interviewing in Nutrition and Fitness
Dawn Clifford, PhD, RD
Laura Curtis, MS, RD

“An excellent introduction to the general principles of motivational interviewing (MI), as well as specific strategies and techniques. The examples and scripts very clearly illustrate the use of MI in counseling for dietary and physical activity behavior change….The basic philosophy of MI is woven throughout the book, and it is a delight!”

—Ellen Globsky, PhD, RD, LDN

Includes Reproducible Forms and Handouts

2016, 6" x 9" Paperback, 276 Pages
ISBN 978-1-4625-2418-1, $30.00, $24.00

Managing Pain Before It Manages You
FOURTH EDITION
Margaret A. Caudill, MD, PhD, MPH

“Those who have used this approach report that in addition to lessening their suffering from pain, they have learned how to apply its principles to other aspects of their lives. They communicate better, have a more positive attitude, and frequently achieve other elusive health goals.”

—the Pain Clinic

Introducing the Rowan University Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology

Today’s students in Rowan University’s new Ph.D. program in clinical psychology will be tomorrow’s scientist-practitioners who conduct research on a variety of topics. These doctoral students will also work alongside physicians to identify patients with mental health issues and help maximize their emotional and physical well-being.

The full-time program, which prepares students to become licensed psychologists, comprises four years of coursework and a one-year clinical internship. Emphasizing integrated primary care and health psychology, the program focuses on the interconnectedness of biological, psychological and sociocultural factors.

Throughout their course of study, students work closely with faculty; conduct high-quality original research; and participate in interdisciplinary collaborations with Cooper Medical School of Rowan University, the Rowan University School of Osteopathic Medicine, the M.D. Anderson Cancer Center and other health care organizations.

To learn more, visit www.rowan.edu/clinicalpsych or contact Dr. Georita Frierson, Director of Clinical Training, at clinicalpsych@rowan.edu or (856) 256-4500 x3171

Applicants must have a bachelor’s degree in psychology or closely related field. Successful candidates are simultaneously admitted to both M.A. and Ph.D. programs in clinical psychology and must complete requirements for both degrees.
